PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. O. B. Poulson, offered the following prayer:

Our Father God, we pause to worship Thee in prayer, e'er we put our hands to the tasks of the new day. Thy mercies are new with each swiftly passing day. We would not be ungrateful for all Thy favors nor forgetful of Thy Providential care. Our forefathers lifted up their hands to Thee in supplication and were not ashamed. Teach us, dear Lord, that we may supplicate Thy throne aright.

As we read the pages of history, and mark the rise and the fall of nations, we catch the meaning of Thy Word. "The nations that forget God shall be turned into hell." We bless Thee that 'Faith in God' was and is—the chief cornerstone of this great Republic. We would not this day, by thought, word or deed, part company with Thee. We crave Thy council. We covet Thy benediction to rest upon all that we do or say.

Give strength and wisdom to our Speaker, the members of this house, and to all in authority in this Commonwealth. We ask it in Thy name. Amen.

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1527, entitled:

An Act making it lawful to employ minors over the age of twelve years as golf caddies.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill provides it shall be lawful for boys over twelve years of age, in fact it says minors, it is not even confined to boys, over twelve years of age may be employed as caddies during the time that the public schools in their respective school disrticts shall not be in session.

This is not an amendment to the Child Labor Law—it is not proposed as such but in fact it is an amendment of the Child Labor Law that was passed in 1915 and to which they have not added any additional exemptions since that time. This bill proposes to exempt certain children who have been held to come within the provisions of the Child Labor Law and reduces the age limit from fourteen years to twelve years, to act as caddies on golf courses. I feel it is an undesirable and an unwise increase of the exemption under the Child Labor Law. There is no need particularly at the present time for this particular legislation. At the time of the passage of the Act there was an investigation made in regard to how many children were employed under the age of fourteen years as caddies before they were brought within the Child Labor Law, and it was found at that time that less than twenty-five per cent of the caddies came under the age of fourteen. Since that time we have been confronted with an increasing problem of unemployment. In Philadelphia the Lloyd committee has been encouraging golf and country clubs to employ unemployed men in the place of boys as caddies. They have written letters to some forty-three golf and country clubs in Philadelphia and vicinity which read as follows: "In view of the acute need for work by thousands of heads of large families beyond any power of ours to relieve with made work, our committee would like to submit for the serious consideration of your Governing Board and Greens Committee, the idea of using as caddies, during the unemployment crisis, as many heads of families as possible.

"The committee realizes how existing committments, the preference of individual members, etc., may condition the extent of your ability to co-operate. We, nevertheless, feel strongly that your club may properly find in this suggestion the means of making at slight sacrifice, a real contribution to the unemployment situation.

"As a practical matter we believe that most clubs can readily find plenty of needy applicants in their immediate neighborhoods. Through arrangements being completed, however, any desired number of men certified by us as to need can be obtained on application to the State Public Employment office.

"We should deeply appreciate it if you will let us know the extent to which your club will co-operate."

Now, it may be said that able-bodied men will not act as caddies, but I do not think that will be necessary even if this bill is defeated. I do feel that we can find plenty of caddies over the age of fourteen years and some of the jobs now being filled by boys between fourteen and sixteen years of age can be much better filled by adults. It does not seem to me a good reason to employ children twelve years of age when we have hundreds of thousands of able-bodied men walking the streets looking for jobs while their wives and children are at home begging for sustenance.

There is more to this than the problem of unemployment. You may not realize that unemployment is a permanent problem. It is not only with us at the present time, but there are from one million to one and a half million men who are out of work all of the time. It is not merely an emergency at the present time although it is a great deal worse at the present time than it usually is. It is not purely an emergency problem; we have it with us all the time, so the objections to this bill on that ground will not be made when this depression passes, but I do think it should receive our consideration very seriously at this time.

There are a number of other objections to it. The boys and girls whom this bill will permit to act as caddies of the age of twelve years will have to carry the heavy golf bags. Doctors agree that at that age children grow their muscles and internal organs and they further agree that they should not at that age be subjected to strenuous exertion or continuous work, which will exhaust them. You may say, and I have heard members say it on the floor of this House, and other places, that to go out on a nice sunny golf course on a nice sunny day is good for children. On first examination that appears to be a sound argument, but as you who play golf well know, many of the golf bags are pretty heavy, especially those with the brass bound golf clubs that weigh I am told from twenty-five to thirty pounds, and these caddies not only go with them a short distance, but they go over an eighteen hole course, which I understand approximates about five miles, and to do this through the hot sun it is very easy for children to become exhausted. Under such conditions they will not stop on the first round; they will go out again and will look for an opportunity of getting a few cents more. They should not be put in a position for the child to judge whether they are exhausted or not. Such employment will be injurious to the health of our children.

Then again, the conditions surrounding some golf courses are not of the best for our children from a moral viewpoint. I am not speaking of the high-class residential clubs where conditions are up to the top notch, but you go out to some of the mountain clubs where they are run on the commercial basis and where they take as high as a hundred boys and keep them there all summer and in which clubs there is plenty of liquor brought in and gambling goes on openly, it certainly is not a good place for boys and girls twelve years of age to be.

Under the provisions of this bill it would also be possible for boys and girls twelve years of age to be employed on golf-driving courses, which many of you know are open until twelve o'clock at night and are open on Sundays, and I remember that I heard this morning that a good many members of this House are opposed to certain things on Sunday, and certainly you should be opposed to children twelve years of age in an occupation of that kind on the Sabbath Day.

So you see, members of the House, there are a number of reasons why this bill should not be supported. In the first place, it is a weakening of the Child Labor Law; it is the first step in that direction. Many other interests want this law weakened, want to be exempted. If we take the first step, they will probably be in here—theatrical performers and certain others—who for years have been trying to get out from under the provisions of this law.

I feel that it is very desirable that we shall keep the law as it is and that this measure should be defeated, and I ask you to vote no on this bill.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goehring, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOEHRING. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I ask the sponsor of this bill, would this bill make it lawful for caddies to work on Sunday?

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker, that is not germane to the issue, but I am not afraid to answer the quesiton of the gentleman from Philadelphia. It certainly would not, and he knows it as well as I do.

Mr. SOWERS. Am I not right when I read, "It shall be lawful for any golf club"—of course they play golf on Sunday —"to employ minors over the age of twelve years as caddies during any time that the public schools are not in session." Would that not include Sundays?

Mr. GOEHRING. It would not.

Mr. SOWERS. It would not include Sundays?

Mr. GOEHRING. It would not; it would not legalize it.

Mr. SOWERS. Would you have any objections to amending your bill by adding a clause that these little children shall not work on Sunday?

Mr. GOEHRING. They cannot, legally, as it stands today.

Mr. SOWERS. Would this bill not repeal the Blue Law?

Mr. GOEHRING. I would say not.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I regret very much to be in opposition to my good friend from Allegheny County, Mr. Goehring. I know Mr. Goehring is a very sterling Sunday advocate, but I fear his opinion is wrong, and as I read this bill I take it that you can only construe it to mean that it is an inroad on our Sunday law and will permit caddies to work on Sundays. For that reason, Mr. Speaker, I must vote in opposition to this bill.

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not a golf player. I have not been on a golf course I suppose for five years, but two weeks ago the president of the caddies association came here to this House and explained to me that they had four thousand boys in that association. He told me what that association has done for these boys and I am for the boys and I am for the caddies, and I am for any boy that wants to go out and earn an honest living whether he is twelve or fourteen or sixteen years of age. The association asked for a limit of ten years of age. I would not grant it. I made it twelve.

Little I thought that this would apply to the child labor law, or to the labor union or to labor in any manner or form, because I want to say to labor right here that they have not a better friend on the floor of this House than the sponsor of this bill. I am going to prove it to you. When I came here in 1921 I realized that if a laboring man got his hair burned off his head, or his face burned beyond recognition or got his ear burned into a hickory nut or his fingers taken off, he didn't get a nickel except for the time he lost from work. I introduced a bill in this House to give him something for both. I met with a great deal of opposition. Finally I withdrew the provisions in the bill for the loss of fingers as a compromise to a disfigurement bill. It went through the House a-sailing and it went through the Senate and two years later I came back here and had the provisions for the loss of fingers put in there.

I never considered for a minute this bill as a labor bill, and it is not. The members and officers of that association know every parent of these boys and they have brought these boys up through channels, and one of these boys today is teller in one of our city banks in Pittsburgh. Their environments are good. I want to say to you members that when a boy comes up to twelve years of age that little bag is not going to hurt him. There is not a farmer on this floor that doesn't work his own son when he is twelve years of age. You know that they will carry two buckets of water, and that is heavier than this bag. The master of the caddies takes charge of them. I don't intend to qualify to explain it, but I am told that they rest at every green and the master caddie looks after the weight of the bag as to the size of the boy to carry that bag.

I say to you, men and women, and sincerely, that many a little family is getting their bread and butter through these caddie boys. I don't want tó deprive a boy from earning an honest living, I don't care what age he is. And I repeat that this is not a labor bill, and that this is not a child labor bill and it is plain in the act you cannot employ minors under twelve years of age at any time except when the schools are not in session. It takes that out. I ask you members of the House to vote aye on this bill.

Mr. BEYER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if it is wrong for a boy of twelve years of age to play baseball on Sunday, surely it must be one hundred times worse for him to carry a rich man's bag to the golf links on Sunday, and for that reason, whether this is a labor bill or not a labor bill, I am going to vote against it.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate my friend from Allegheny, Mr. Goehring.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr Goehring, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOEHRING. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny to please read the clause in the bill which prevents the employment of caddies on Sunday.

Mr. GOEHRING. Now, Mr. Sarig, I have not that in mind, but there is an Act of Assembly on that, and this does not repeal that act. There is no repealer in this act in any manner or form, and for that reason I say they cannot do that legally on Sunday.

Mr. SARIG. Would the gentleman from Allegheny consider it any worse for boys to be permitted to play baseball on Sunday than to work as caddies on the golf links on Sunday?

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not in a position to answer that question. But it does not legalize the Sabbath Day.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, As I understand the bill it says that kiddies over twelve years of age may be employed. There is no clause in this bill as I see it that would prohibit the employment of caddies on Sunday.

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker, yes, because there is a specific law on that point and this act does not repeal that law.

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to be able to go along with our friend from Allegheny, Mr. Goehring, but I think from the standpoint of principle every laboring man will have to be opposed to this bill, because regardless of what they say about it not being a labor bill, it is a labor bill because the Labor Bill prevents that very practice at this time. If it was not for the child labor bill having the minimum age of fourteen, such caddies could do this work, thus making an exemption from that bill, and by making that inroad on it at this time, it would only be a matter of another session until there was somebody else also looking to be exempted from the provisions of that act. For that reason, and for that reason alone, I will be forced to vote against this bill.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE, ON HOUSE BILL No. 817

TUESDAY, April 21, 1931

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS, PRESIDING

The CHAIRMAN. We are now in Committee of the Whole for the purpose of considering amendments to House Bill No. 817, Printer's No. 333.

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of April one thousand seven hundred and ninety-four (Three Smith Laws one hundred seventy-seven) entitled "An act for the prevention of vice and immorality and of unlawful gaming and to restrain disorderly sports and dissipation is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the first day of August next if any person shall do or perform any worldly employment or business whatsoever on the Lord's Day commonly called Sunday works of necessity and charity only excepted or shall use or practice any unlawful game hunting shooting sport or diversion whatsoever on the same day and be convicted thereof every such person so offending shall for every such offense forfeit and pay four dollars to be levied by distress or in case he or she shall refuse or neglect to pay the said sum or goods and chattels cannot be found whereof to levy the same by distress he or she shall suffer six days imprisonment in the house of correction of the proper county Provided always That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit the dressing of victuals in private families bake-houses lodging-houses inns and other houses of entertainment for the use of sojourners travellers or strangers or to hinder watermen from landing their passengers or ferrymen from carrying over the water travellers or persons removing with their families on the Lord's Day commonly called Sunday nor to the delivery of milk or the necessaries of life before [nine] ten of the clock in the forenoon or after five of the clock in the afternoon of the same day

On the question,

Will the Committee agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Chairman, I desire to offer amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend section 1, page 2, line 24, by adding after the word "ady" the following; "Nor to prohibit playing baseball games, with or without admission charges on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, between the hours of two and five thirty, by the clock, in the afternoon."

On the question,

Will the Committee agree to the amendment?

Mr. SOWERS: Mr. Chairman and members of the Committee. The amendment provides for the playing of baseball on Sunday between the hours of two and five-thirty o'clock p.m. The amendment is to an act entitled "An Act for the Prevention of Vice and Immorality and the Playing of Unlawful Games."

Baseball was a game unknown when the Blue Law was thought of, inasmuch as the Blue Law was first thought of in 1783. It was then an experiment passed by the legislature of Pennsylvania for a temporary period of ten years. At the time it expired, in 1793, it was extended by general act, which is now known as the Blue Law.

The bill before the committee, on the second page, line 5, provides that any unlawful game shall be unlawful to be played on Sunday, and the question before the committee to decide is whether or not the playing of baseball on Sunday shall be or shall not be defined to be an unlawful game.

Now, in the large cities of this Commonwealth the Blue Law is stringently enforced. Outside of the cities you will find boys in various fields on a Sunday playing baseball. The boys of Philadelphia, if they endeavor to play baseball on Sunday, are arrested. I can see no reason for that discrimination. However, the law is the law. In the country the officials give leeway to the enforcement of it, but in Philadelphia our officials most stringently enforce the letter of the law.

We had in Philadelphia a reform mayor, and the great power behind that reform mayor was his wfie. The subject matter of this amendment was submitted to her—Mrs. Blankenburg—and I received this letter from her last evening:

April 19, 1931.

My dear Mr. Sowers:

In regard to the Schwartz bill, I approve of the extra hour for the delivery of milk and other needed articles, also of the amendment to permit baseball playing Sunday afternoon 2 to 6. When we have two million population to plan for, it is quite a different need than when the Blue Laws were passed.

Respectfully,

(Signed) LUCRETIA L. BLANKENBURG.

The Blue Laws were passed to suppress vice and to suppress sin, as you might say. Today in large cities on Sunday we have millions of idle hands, and idle hands tempt, you might say the devil himself. Nothing is more dangerous, I know, in communities than to have idlers. On our corners congregate men and women who have no place to go. Many of them, in fact, go to church. Those that go to church in the morning and those that go to church in the evening have Sunday afternoon on their hands and do not know what to do with it, and what is the result? They drift to something else, to iniquity and sin. Baseball playing in the afternoon will take them to places where they should go, it will take them from the corners, it will take them from the pool rooms and from various other places, and it would have a good effect on their health by keeping them out in the open.

When the World's War came about and we were asked to go in it an examination was made of the youth of our large cities and every one was surprised to find what a large percentage of the youth was disqualified physically. That is undoubtedly due, as the officers of the United States army concluded, to the fact that we are housing thousands of people in small areas. Take my own district, we have 60,000 people in that district; you might ride around the district in an automobile at a moderate rate of speed in fifteen minutes or less. In that district when I was a boy, one family occupied a large house. Today anywhere from four to five and even eight and ten families occupy one house. Something must be provided for these people to have some diversion on Sunday, and it seems to me that the lightest and most innocent diversion is the playing of baseball.

Baseball is today one of the most popular sports in America. Last Sunday I heard over the radio that in New York City some 86,000 people attended a baseball game on Sunday; 86,000 people attended one game on Sunday. Now, in Philadelphia if any such crowd as that attended a baseball game would they be violating any of the tenets or any of the principles of any one's religion? Would they not be really upholding religion by having their minds occupied, by having their thoughts occupied by wholesome and honest sport, rather than being left to drift to some unlawful game or some unlawful place?

I would ask the members of this House for their approval of this amendment.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Chairman and members of the Committee. As I see this issue before us, it is not a question of religion, but it is a question of government.

As a school teacher, having spent many years in the school room is a positive government; the more negative and repressive measures that you use in the school room the weaker becomes your government. If you ever get in a disorderly school room, you will usually find that policy of that teacher is one of negation, one of repression or one of suppression.

Boys and girls are a bundle of energy. You can not repress and you can not suppress that energy. You might as well try to stem the tides of the ocean, and you might as well try to dam up the Mississippi River as to attempt to take that energy, which is inherent in healthy growing boys and girls, and to suppress it. The proper thing to do and the best thing to do is to take that energy and to quiet it and to direct it. I am in very hearty accord with the idea of directing young men and women toward the church and the Sunday school, but you can not keep them in church or in Sunday school all day long. I have believed for a number of years that the church has actually prevented, it has repelled a lot of young men and a lot of young women by its repressive measures. Some of the most up-to-date churches today are falling into the policy of trying to supply decent, good and clean amusement in their church activities.

Now, the same thing applies to grown-ups—men and women are only children of a larger growth—and the same rule that applies to boys and girls in the school room, I believe, applies to the question of government when it comes to men and women. I can see nothing wrong in taking the energy of those young men and permitting them on Sunday afternoon to enjoy an afternoon baseball game. Young boys—I haven't any, but if I had,—I would far rather see them in the stands rooting at a baseball game on a Sunday afternoon than to see them at many other places to which they will drift if they are repressed, if they are prohibited from playing baseball.

To me it seems that the strongest government that you can have is not a government of repression. A strong government must be a government of direction. You go and work up a lot of "thou shalt nots," a lot of "don'ts," and then sit back and see in ten minutes how many of the boys themselves are itching to test the rule, to see whether they can get away with it by breaking it. You can do more by saying to them, "Let's do this" and "Let's do that." Take their energy and guide it in the proper channels, and I believe that the results will be far better than they will be with any policy of repression.

There is another objection I have to the Blue Laws, and that is this: we compel every law enforcement officer in Pennsylvania to take an oath, we require them to take over every enforcement law in the Commonwealth. Now, then, what do we do? After taking them the oath we push this Blue Law under their noses and say, "Here, take it and enforce it," when there is not a sane man or woman in Pennsylvania who wants the Blue Laws enforced. They want certain parts of them enforced of course, but I do not believe there is one member of this House who would get up and say, "I insist that the Blue Laws be enforced in their entirety." If we do not want to enforce them in their entirety, then why should we insist on enforcing the part that we do not want enforced? Every enforcement law on the statute books is a weak link in the chain of law enforcement, the more laws you place on the statute books, and then fail to enforce them the weaker becomes your government and the less confidence the people of this Commonwealth will have in that government.

I want to read to you what Major Schofield, Director of Public Safety of the City of Philadelphia, said at a Methodist conference at Reading only a few weeks ago. Here are his remarks:

"When we have reached the stage where a public official can decide for himself which class he is to enforce the law against and which is to be let alone, then we will find ourselves in a sad plight."

Isn't that an example of what we have been doing, the very thing that Major Schofield condemned before a convention of Methodists at Reading. Isn't that the very identical thing that we have been doing for years and years? We have told these enforcement officers "Here are the blue laws. Now select such parts as you think you would like to enforce, and just ignore the rest." As I have said, if we do not want these blue laws to be enforced then why not cut out of them—why not remove from them such parts as we do not wish to enforce? If we follow the present policy in this Commonwealth, which seems to indicate that this legislature feels that the people have lost the power of government, if you have faith in the people, if you have faith in the American Government, if you believe that the people at this stage or at this period are still able to run their own affairs, if you still believe that the people are able to conduct their own government through the ballot, then we cannot continue to follow that present policy, and you ought to be strong enough to stand up here and say, "Let the People of Pennsylvania say what shall be the law and what shall not be the law." As you have it now under the blue laws, you have a part of the blue laws of which you say, "Go on and enforce them," but there is a considerable part of them of which you say: "Just ignore them." I don't believe, as I said, a minute ago, that there is one single individual in Pennsylvania that would say that we should enforce the blue laws in their entirety, and if they do not, then why not remove the part which we feel should not be enforced?

This, to my mind is purely a question of government. It is unfortunate that religion creeps into it. The man or woman who has conscientious objection, conscientious scruples about attending a baseball game, that individual still has the right to stay away. There is nothing in this bill to prevent anybody from going to a baseball game. It is not compulsory. It is not a question of religion. What the individual may do between himself or herself and his or her Maker is a matter for the individual itself. It is not a matter for the legislature. It is a matter of religion, but this question is not a matter of religion. It is a question of government, and the real issue before us now is what is the best thing for the young men and women in Pennsylvania, under the situation; and I believe that if you give this careful consideration, you will see that it is far better to permit the young men and women of Pennsylvania to follow some clean recreation than it is to drive them back down into some joint, hidden under cover. I would like to see the young men and women of Pennsylvania out in the open on Sunday. I never have believed in having boys and girls under cover, and I think the men and women of Pennsylvania should spend their Sunday in the open, instead of going to some club or some joint down in the alley, which has a far more detrimental effect upon their character than any recreation, such as the playing of a game of baseball.

I hope that the House will give this amendment its serious consideration, consider it in its proper light, and consider the welfare of the young men and women of Pennsylvania, and if you do that, I believe that this amendment will be passed.

Mr. BEYER. Mr. Chairman, I cheerfully take off my hat in respect and admiration for the men who placed upon the statute books of this Commonwealth, one hundred and thirty-seven years ago the act of assembly which we are now seeking to amend. In their day and in their time they governed according to conditions and circumstances, as they found them, and if you take the trouble of familiarizing yourselves with the conditions existing at the time, you will readily realize why it was that they enacted this statute.

The legislative body at that time consisted of nothing more than five counties, and their representatives met in the city of Philadelphia. At that time, on a Sunday every thing was wide open there. Taverns were open, and frequent brawls ensued. Horse racing was taking place on the outskirts of Frankford and Germantown and large bets were laid upon horses, and unlawful games and gambling seemed to be the fashion of the day, so much so that a number of mechanics and manufacturers residing in Philadelphia saw fit to present a petition to the grand jury then assembled in Philadelphia, calling attention to what they termed "The English dissipation of the day," and making their principal criticism against the landed gentlemen who idled their time and the poor who lost their money, and it was on the basis of this complaint, and not upon the petition or the urgent appeal of any religion or church in Philadelphia, that these practical, hard headed, solid thinking men placed upon the books this restraining act in order to govern what they called unlawful gaming and disorderly sports and gambling. If you will read the title of the bill, you will find the very thing that they had in mind, and it was that original bill that then came before the assembly on second reading. I have the books before me; the proceedings of the 1794 session have been shown to me in the Historical Society in Philadelphia, and they moved and proceeded in about the same way as we do now. On the second reading that act of assembly which had to do only with unlawful gaining, some one offered an amendment, including what you find in the body of the bill termed as worldly employment. Another representative arose and offered a second amendment, he thought the first amendment was entirely too broad, and his amendment excepted from worldly employment certain acts that were regarded as necessities. The bill passed with those amendments, and without any change to the title whatsoever. I suppose in those days, prior to the existing Constitution, such legislation was perfectly proper.

We are now, Mr. Speaker, confronted with a situation that arises after one hundred and thirty-seven years of many changes in political and social life; we have a number of times changed and readopted new constitutions for this Commonwealth. You didn't even have a gasoline lamp in the city of Philadelphia. We had three constables in Philadelphia, three in the day and three at night, with one out on the night watch, and they increased the constabulary to two more men when the legislature assembled in Philadelphia. I wondered, when I saw these remeniscent accounts of the day, why it was that they increased the constabulary when the legislature was assembled, whether it was for the protection of the legislature or of the community. The fact, however, remains, that in those days, even stage coaches were a scarce article and traveling by them from one place to another was only at such times as they could be obtained. Life has changed since then and as I told you there was no baseball known to those people. They did, however, have innocent sports, and the very men that enacted this law found no fault with the sports that were indulged in. On a Sunday afternoon on the Delaware River, when the ice was frozen, thousands of boys and girls and men and women were out there skating and thousands more stood upon the banks of the river watching the performance. I do not see any more wrong in playing a game of baseball than I do in skating. They had lawn tennis, and they played it on the landed estates of the gentry outside of Philadelphia. It was a frequent thing to see a tennis game. They had other games.

Why should we deny to the innocent youth and the clean minded people of Philadelphia an opportunity to attend a good, clean, wholesome sport, such as baseball when you can go to the outskirts of Philadelphia, to these fashionable clubs and see gentlemen and women of leisure play golf—golf in many clubs, and not a murmur not a word of protest. But take the little American boy, who has probably been to church in the morning, and who gets out in the afternoon with a few of his chums, and a vacant lot or even a park, the mere tossing of a baseball, the mere batting out of a baseball, without any actual baseball rules, to be followed, is a violation of the law in the estimation of some of the police authorities in the city of Philadelphia, and these boys are and have been frequently arrested. Why this age of hyprocisy why this nonsense, why this evasion of the truth, when all around things have changed. These are the days of automobiles in the hands of chauffeurs and in the hands of those who own them are running through your streets, and all over this great Commonwealth of ours every Sunday. Thousands of open gasoline stations are selling gasoline. Trolley cars are a thing which under the act and the courts are a Sabbath violation, and yet they run. The very running of a steam railway is a violation of this law. Can't we realize that the time has come to wake up? I find no fault with the spirit of the act, which was passed in those days for a specific purpose, but I consider baseball not a worldly employment. I consider it as a sport and in accordance with the spirit of truth we can make it a day of rejoicing. I go to church some times twice every Sunday, more so of recent years than I did before. Let me tell you there is nothing more comforting, nothing more appealing, nothing that raises man higher than the wholesome communion of others with whom he meets. When he goes into a place that has been sanctified to God, and I speak in no spirit of disparity to the church, I rather appeal to the church that has taken sometimes an attitude on this question to get back to the teachings of the Lord and Master. Practice charity, live in amity, and you will find when you go to church you will sing with more heart and soul: "Praise God from whom all Blessings flow."

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, it is not my purpose to delay progress on this amendment. After hearing the able gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Beyer, who in glowing terms told us how he worshipped his Maker twice a day, it reminds me that possibly he is like myself and a great many others. There are two things that make us morally good; old age and prohibition.

However, I would be unjust if a word were not expressed in behalf of the people of the western part of the state of Pennsylvania. Last Tuesday I took serious exception to certain newspapers. Today I take the opposite view, and I certify to their good work. In Pittsburgh: "The Sun-Telegraph," a daily and a Sunday newspaper send out a poll by mail, taken from the registry list of the poll books of Allegheny County and asked each one who received a vote on the question of the repeal of the blue law to be kind enough to return that vote duly filled out. Much to the amazement of all concerned, Allegheny County, on this popular vote by mail, voted five to one for the repeal of the blue laws of Pennsylvania, and I bow to no member of this House nor to any other individual in Pennsylvania, in the view that religion in the western part of the state is just as staunch as it is in any other part.

There may be members of this committee who are probably on the edge of the fence, knowing not how to turn on the question; in a question of doubt as to whether the people of Pennsylvania want a repeal of our blue laws. I say to you that the western part of Pennsylvania is absolutely in accord with this repeal. However, we are not here for a total repeal of the blue laws, today. We are only considering the question of the amendment offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, and seconded by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz, that baseball shall be permitted on Sunday between certain hours, without admission.

Ladies and gentlemen, it has been said by the gentleman from Berks County, we should not have a government of oppression, but we should have government of direction. We, especially in the Pittsburgh region suffer from one unusual thing, and that is the fact that we are an inland city. We have no place to go. Our amusements are limited. We have no Delaware river. We have no Lake Erie. We have no Atlantic Ocean. We are situated in a valley, between the mountains of the Alleghenies, and there we are on Sunday with nothing to do, except one thing, and that is to go to church and we can't live in church all the time. It has gotten so severe in Allegheny County that the poor kiddies in the back lots on a Sunday afternoon, are today and have been arrested for playing innocent baseball, brought before a justice of the peace, and they are fined not because the justice of the peace wants to enforce the blue laws, but because it is possible and he gets a return from that business in the way of a paltry fine, and as a result of that the innocent child, who has appeared before a justice of the peace, becomes a criminal in the minds of his kid friends. They kid him, they say, "You were arrested." And what is the result with the district attorney? He has nothing within the gift of men, excepting severe criticism by the churches and the directors for permitting innocent baseball games on Sunday afternoons. On the other hand some minister, I dare say, who belong to some country club or if he has the price of admission, on a

Sunday afternoon goes to the golf links. It is all right for him to find recreation on the greens, but it is all wrong for that kid who plays in the back alley or back yard to play a game of baseball for which he may be penalized. That kid is not placed on an equal basis with the man who has money. That same minister who opposes baseball, preaches the maintenance of the Sabbath, that none of you legislators vote for the repeal of the maintenance of the blue law.

Ladies and gentlemen I ask you to give the kids of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to give the adolescent, the right to play baseball games, if they see fit between the appointed hours, and when church services are at a standstill.

I thank you.

Mr. MUSMANNO. Mr. Chairman and members of the Committee, I have been patiently waiting to hear someone on behalf of the opposition arise and tell us why he or they oppose this amendment. I certainly cannot believe that this amendment will be adopted unanimously, as much as I would desire that happy result. There certainly must be some opposition here considering the experience that I have had since I first became a member of this Legislature. In view of the absence of any speakers for the opposition, let me anticipate that the only opposition that might be voiced, because I have heard it frequently in the committee rooms and have heard it on the floor of this House in conversation—the only possible opposition is the alleged commercialization of the Sabbath. There is no one who will seriously maintain that the playing of baseball per se is wrong. So they conjure up this imaginary spectre and say that the playing of baseball will lead to the commercialization of the Sabbath.

Mr. Chairman and members of the Committee, every member of this House, who will vote against this amendment, I can say with practical certainty, rides in an automobile on Sunday, and when he does that he absolutely violates the spirit and letter of the law of 1794. It is not more commercial to pay an admission to see a baseball game than it is to take an automobile ride. When he rides, he pays for gasoline, and in spending money, as he is doing, he is commercializing the Sabbath. I cannot see any other possible interpretation of it. Those who will vote against this amendment, if they are consistent, must say also that gasoline buying is an act of commerce.

Let me say one word with reference to the sponsor of this measure, my friend from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz, he has presented an amendment here, through his colleague, Mr. Sowers, and I want to say to this House that he has been exceedingly fair in his adherence to the blue law. I myself endeavored to have him attach to this bill my own local option feature, but he absolutely refused to do so, and he refused because he did not want the proponents of the blue laws to think that there was anything unfair, anything surreptitious about the matter. This bill left the committee, and he found that if it provided for my local option it would change the original purpose of this bill. So, this bill is just an amendment of his, merely adds exceptions to the bill as embraced in the law of 1794.

Members of the Committee there is nothing more irreligious, or more commercial in a base ball than there is in buying gasoline on Sunday. I know that those who will vote against this bill will have uppermost in their minds this thought of commercialization. Let me say, members of the Committee, that if this act of 1794 were interpreted and strictly enforced, it would mean that gasoline could not be sold on Sunday, and if it were so enforced, you would then see in the House of Representatives the most powerful lobby that ever assembled under the dome of this capitol, using its tremendous influence on this Legislature, and you would have a bill introduced and passed in a very short time, providing that the selling of gasoline on a Sunday is legal, and that the collection of hundreds of thousands of dollars on that day was also legal.

Mr. Chairman and members of the Committee, this is the first time in one hundred and thirty-seven years that the Legislature has had an opportunity of passing here on the floor of this House on this act of 1794. I want, particularly, to appeal to the members of the rural counties. I respect and admire them. I, myself, live in a rural municipality, although I have my office in the city. We appreciate their problems and we trust that they will understand ours. We trust that they will not close their minds to this proposition. We who favor modification of the law of 1794 are not wicked and sinful. We are God-fearing, church-going people, and I ask you today to lay aside all thought of local prejudice, lay aside all thoughts of provincialism and vote to accept this amendment; this amendment which will permit us to have that great American game of baseball on Sunday afternoon.

I thank you.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, since coming to these legislative halls in the 1925 session, I have been consistent in voting for the preservation of the laws of 1794, commonly called the blue law, but gradually has there come to me a realization that my views have not been consistent. When a Philadelphia newspaper carried on a controversy on an open Sunday, my views were expressed, namely, that my belief was that both sides of the question, the proponents and the opponents, should sit down in a calm and orderly fashion and attempt to ascertain what was right and what was not right on Sunday.

It seems to me that it is the first duty of a Legislature to promote the peace and happiness of the people of this Commonwealth. So, for the first time since the inception of the laws of 1794, we have before us a thing that we might make legal.

While I am not an attorney, my interpretation of the act of 1794 is the establishment of those things that were illegal. So the question comes before us today as to whether baseball is legal or whether it is not legal. We all know that baseball has become a national pastime of the American people and all over the world people have attempted to copy this form of amusement.

In my belief, due to the fact that the sport is wholesome, it tends to the upbuilding, first of the physique of the American youth and, secondly, their mentality.

As I say, the question before us this morning, is the legality of baseball, and we have established, as proposed by Mr. Sowers, a specific time on the Sabbath day that we might devote to that sport.

When we review the history of baseball we realize that it is an organized industry, but we find also no disturbance whatsoever at the ball games, because organized industry realizes that such a thing would not be permissible nor would it tend to uplift the game. So, through all these years the baseball scale has gone up, and now, if we pass this amendment, which I sincerely trust we will, it will tell the people for the first time in Pennsylvania that they can legally play baseball from two to five thirty.

There is not a Legislator in this hall who in some manner has not persistently, must and will, break the original law.

Therefore, I am asking you to establish, first, the fact that baseball is legal, and secondly, to tell the people of Pennsylvania that they may legally play baseball from two until five thirty on the Sabbath.

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Chairman and members of the Committee, as a cliff dweller in a large city, I would be very remiss to the constituency which I represent and the citizens of Pennsylvania if I did not take the floor and do what I could in my own humble way to have this amendment adopted here today.

From what has been said by some of the speakers, you would think that Philadelphia was the only city that was involved as far as this amendment is concerned. This amendment would permit the whole State of Pennsylvania to play legalized baseball upon the Sabbath day. Horse racing has been designated as the "sport of kings." Thank God, we have no kings in this country, but we have an humble working class of people, and to that class of people baseball has become the national sport, and if you, Mr. Chairman and ladies and gentlemen of the Committee, pass this amendment, for fifty cents, or one dollar, those working men can on a Sunday afternoon go to their favorite park and see a baseball game.

We in Philadelphia are indeed fortunate. We live one hour from Atlantic City, where moving pictures are open, baseball is played on Sunday, together with other sports; surf bathing, and one thing and another like that. Where a man can for the sum of fifty cents or one dollar go to see a baseball game, that amount of money will not take that man and his family to the seashore for a Sunday afternoon. Therefore, I am here as one of the friends of this amendment, asking you men of the country—not of the big cities, the ones who live in Philadelphia, the ones who live in Pittsburgh, for your approval of this amendment. As you know, you can see every field on every vacant pasture dotted with baseball players playing baseball on Sunday. I am asking you of the country to be fair with us from the cities. To afford us an opportunity to play baseball on Sunday. Is Pennsylvania more holy than any other state in the Union? Is this is a religious issue, than in every big city in the United States, with the exception of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, where Sunday baseball is allowed, I have for the first time to pick up a newspaper and see where the church or any other similar body, is criticising the playing of baseball in those large cities. I ask you men and women here to be fair to the people of these big cities, so that they can enjoy their little game of baseball.

The laws of 1794 were passed as a church measure, and does any man or woman in this Committee consider baseball a sinful game? If they do, then I ask them to vote this amendment down. But if you consider it a clean and wholesome sport, that you and your wife and your neighbors may enjoy on a Sunday afternoon out in the good sunshine and open air, then I ask you to vote for this amendment, so that you and I may go to see what our hearts desire; in other words a baseball game on Sunday.

Mr. BRAHAM. Mr. Chairman and ladies and gentlemen of the Committee, I would not be true to myself, nor true to my constituency—and by the way, I come from western Pennsylvania—if I were to sit here in silence while a measure of this importance is voted on in this Committee.

I have perfect confidence in this Committee. We have listened here to a display of oratory, a talk that was good and was convincing, and yet, ladies and gentlemen, when you have lived long enough you know some things, and all I ask, realizing, as I do, that sometimes we vote on measures here and vote lightly, all I ask of a body such as this is, and a body that I have as much confidence in, all I ask of you, ladies and gentlemen, is to remember what this measure has cost. Remember what this measure possibly is still costing to those who would adhere to the things that have been brought to us relative to reform measures. Ladies and gentlemen, I submit to you, for your own judgment, whether these arguments were sound or were not, and in conclusion, all I ask the members of the House is to remember the cost, remember what it means to the life of this Commonwealth, and remember what it means to you as an individual representative.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Chairman and members of the Committee, I want to say another word. When this measure was before the legislature of Massachusetts, it was passed by that Commonwealth, and no less and no more conservative man in America than President Coolidge approved it.

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Chairman and members of the Committee, admitting that every member of the Pennsylvania Legislature, as well as every person here is guilty of a misdemeanor and a violation of the laws of Pennsylvania—let us admit all that, because that has been a large part of the argument that has been presented here this morning, let me call your attention to something that I trust you will take away with you and think about seriously. Upon three things we predicate the spirit of the American Government; our reverence for God, our obedience to our parents, and our respect for our citizenship. I fail to be able to see, in the logic and the psychology of the human mind, when we legalize and make permissible an act of pleasure, that we even maintain our reverence to God, our obedience to our parents, and our respect to the community. I can readily see from the argument that has been presented here today, that it has been presented from the standpoint of individuals, and experience in this particular body—I can see the force and the effect of this logic, but I want to say to you that the moment we legalize by affirmative declaration in the laws of Pennsylvania a pleasure we take away from our trust in the infinite God the power from which all the spirit and soul of man emanates.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Chairman and members of the Committee, I just wish to make an observation, not a speech.

We meet in the legislature every two years for the purpose of changing or making new laws. Laws are like every other institution, they must be adapted to the ideas, the ideals, and the needs of the people. We are not living in ancient Persia, where laws never changed and never could change.

I am not in favor of radical changes; I am not in favor of changing well tried and conservative laws, except in so far as they fail to meet the requirements of the present day.

I recall several months ago, I went down to Winchester, Virginia, and there was a beautiful Colonial mansion that had stood there for more than one hundred years—beautiful in its architectural lines—and all of the citizens of Winchester were fearful that some person might buy that mansion and destroy it, and thereby destroy an ancient and honorable landmark. Well, a doctor purchased that mansion, and what did he do with it? He did not destroy it, he retained all of its Colonial lines. But that mansion had no electricity in it, it had no bath rooms in it, it had none of the modern conveniences. So he took that mansion and installed conveniences; made the improvements that would make it livable and made it conform to modern conditions, but he preserved that landmark. It appears to me that we are in that position right here. No one is asking, under the provisions of this amendment, that the blue laws be repealed; there is no statement made of any such purpose. All we are asked to do here is merely, to some degree, modernize the present act passed one hundred and thirty-seven years ago. For my part I can see no reason why those old blue laws should not be more strongly imbedded in the hearts of the people of Pennsylvania when they are modernized to a degree to meet the demand of the great mass of the people of Pennsylvania, than if we allow them to remain on the statute books virtually dead letters.

I believe that everybody who is going to vote for this amendment is conscientious in his desire to preserve the Sabbath in its original sanctity, but I do believe that this amendment and the preservation of the Sabbath in its original sanctity can go hand in hand. For that reason, ladies and gentlemen, I propose to vote for this amendment. I believe that it will be helpful to the citizenship of the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LOSE. Mr. Chairman and members of the Committee, I shall vote no on this amendment, and I would like to state the reason for my vote, because it might be thought that I, along with other persons, that may vote no, have no reason for voting no.

I shall vote no, because on a Sunday, I wish to live on a somewhat higher plane that I live during the other six days of the week, and I believe that a quiet, orderly Sunday, is more conducive to this higher plane of living, than a noisy, disorderly Sunday, and I shall vote no as some other members of this House will vote, because my constituency, by a large measure wishes me to vote no.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, and members of the Committee I have the greatest respect for the man who just spoke. He believes that a quiet Sunday is the thing for him.

Mr. Speaker and members of the Committee, I am acquainted with practically every prominent man and woman from East to North, from North to South who is afflicted like myself. May I say, that I would venture to say that ninety percent of those who are without vision enjoy a baseball game on Sunday as well as any other day. I also wish to state that perhaps when this nation went to war, the people were not called upon to express or to give their religious opinion. They were drafted and sent across. And now, we have some who have come back from "over there," who are in beds and who will remain there until they depart this planet. There are those men who went to war who could enjoy a ball game, and would it not be a blessing to them to let them have some amusement on Sunday? Thank you.

On the question recurring,

Will the Committee agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Sowers and Mr. Schwartz.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Chairman, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified as follows:

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO TAX ON INTANGIBLE PERSONAL PROPERTY

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Finance.

In the House of Representatives, March 2, 1931.

Whereas, In the early days of the Commonwealth real estate was practically the only form of wealth and was consequently selected as the principal object of State and local taxation, and

Whereas, The Commonwealth as early as one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, realized that real estate was bearing an unjust burden of taxation and ceased its collection of taxes from this source, and

Whereas, The burden of local taxation is constantly mounting especially for the support of public schools, and

Whereas, Wealth, estimated to be twice as great as that represented by real property, does not contribute directly in taxation to the support of public schools, and

Whereas, This wealth has been accumulated by persons who have had the benefit of education in the public school system, and should contribute to the support of the public schools, and,

Whereas, The only form in which such wealth is now taxed is under the four mills tax on intangible personal property, the injustice of which tax is admitted by all students of taxation, because it taxes the principal of investments without regard to income, and

Whereas, It is the sense of the General Assembly that before any change is made in the local tax system, it should be advised as to the amount of the probable revenue to be derived from a tax on income and the loss resulting to counties and the Commonwealth by the repeal of the four mills tax on intangible personal property, including the tax on corporate indebtedness, therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the Department of Internal Affairs shall, as soon as possible, ascertain the approximate amount which might be raised from a tax on earned and unearned income at a flat rate of two per centum with exemptions equal to those granted by the Federal Government, and also the amount now collected by the counties and the Commonwealth under the four mills tax on intangible personal property, including the tax on corporate indebtedness, and to make report thereof in detail to the General Assembly in session, or the one first convening after such study has been completed. Said report shall include figures based on the latest data available at the time it is made.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. KRAUSE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KRAUSE, from the Committee on Federal Relations, reported as committed House Resolution No. 16, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 16, 1931.

Whereas, It is of vital importance that channel approaches to any port shall be free from obstructions which delay and are a hazard to navigation and which will be reflected in freight and insurance rates, and

Whereas, Experience has shown that the erection of the Philadelphia-Camden bridge has prevented a number of vessels from passing beneath it, causing additional expense and loss in the discharge of cargo, the dispatch of vessels, and has occasioned unfavorable comment with respect to the port of Philadelphia, and

Whereas, There has been introduced in Congress of the United States, House Bill No. 10887 and Senate Bill No. 1498, to grant the consent of Congress for the construction of a bridge across the Delaware River from Wilmington, Delaware, to the New Jersey side of the River, and

Whereas, The building of such bridge will tend to obstruct the navigation of the Delaware River, the course of which is now being improved by the Federal Government, will handicap the shipyards located thereon, and prevent them from competing for the building and repair of the largest types of vessels, will prevent the fullest utilization of the Philadelphia Navy Yard, will be a menace in foggy weather to air navigation and will be an object of easy destruction in event of war, and

Whereas, The desire for this bridge is local, while the need for an unobstructed channel in the Delaware River with safe egress and ingress to and from the port of Philadelphia and the Philadelphia Navy Yard, is National, both from the standpoint of commerce and defense, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in Session assembled, do hereby protest against the enactment into law of any bills providing for bridges across the Delaware River between Allegheny Avenue, Philadelphia, and the sea;

Resolved, That in place of a bridge, the construction of a tunnel under the river is recommended as entirely feasible, and as furnishing a practical and safe means of transit between the shores of navigable streams;

Resolved That copies of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Members of Congress from Pennsylvania to the Secretary of War the Secretary of the Navy and any others interested in the matter

Mr. KRAUSE. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39, which requires concurrent resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee be suspended and that the Senate do now proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, April 22, 1931.

The House met at 11.00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. O. B. Poulson, offered the following prayer:

Holy and Reverend is Thy name, O God, and Thy mercies are from everlasting unto everlasting. When Israel Thy servants forgot the Lord, neither considered they the works of Thy hands, then were they carried away captive, because they regarded not the Lord.

We bless Thee that our nation is at peace with all the world. We do not greatly fear what other peoples may do unto us. If as a nation our banners are ever pulled down and our glorious Republic destroyed, we must ourselves be the author and the finisher of our own destruction.

Here within these legislative halls we may lower standards or we may keep them floating high. Unaided by Thee and without Thy Divine hand to pilot us, we must make costly errors that will bring shame upon ourselves and our posterity. But aided and directed by One who said—"All power is given unto Me, both in heaven and on earth"—we shall keep our banners unsullied and the blush of shame from our countenance. We plead for that guidance this day, in Thy name. Amen.

RESOLUTION

ENDORSING AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the House of Representatives, April 22, 1931.

Whereas, Under present law, practically every measure for the advancement of the interests of the workers must be fought out in each of the forty-eight states and when a victory is won, there is danger that the Supreme Court of the United States will declare legislation for the protection of wage earners unconstitutional; and

Whereas, In order to abolish this condition, there is being advocated an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, known as the "Workers' Rights Amendment", which, if adopted, would permit Congress and the several states to enact social welfare legislation, and which reads as follows:

ARTICLE XX

Section1. The Congress shall have power to establish uniform laws throughout the United States to regulate, limit and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age; to provide for the relief of aged, invalided, sick and unemployed wage earners and employes in the form of periodical grants, pensions, benefits, compensation or indemnities from the public treasury, from contributions of employers, wage earners and employes, or from one or more of such sources; and generally for the social and economic welfare of the workers in the United States.

Section 2. The power of the several states to enact social welfare legislation is unimpaired by this Article, but no such legislation shall supersede, abridge or conflict with any act of Congress under this Article.

Therefore be it

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I feel it my duty at this time to call your attention to certain statements that have been made in the newspapers in the last day or two in regard to the unemployment situation in Pennsylvania. And especially as quoted in last night's Harrisburg paper in the following statement:

"Deny Starvation—The 'march of the hungry' came face to face today with a flat official statement that no starvation exists among the unemployed of Pennsylvania.

'Thousands of workmen and their families are in urgent need of money for food' was the cry of the hunger marchers.

'There is no starvation among the unemployed of Pennsylvania' was the reply of Dr. Clyde King, chairman of Governor Pinchot's Pennsylvania unemployment committee.

'Reports from the chairmen of the county unemployment committees are that demands for relief are being adequately and completely met,' King told Governor Pinchot in return.

"King's statement said that through welfare and church organizations co-operating with the county committees, large quantities of food, clothing and fuel have been distributed to the needy and all who asked aid received it. Rural districts were reported taking care of their own needs and not looking to the urban centers for help."

In answer to that I would like to read the front page headline from the Pittsburgh "Press" of April twenty-first, together with the article which accompanies it:

STARVATION AGAIN THREATENS 300 AT MINES OUTSIDE AVELLA

Grass and Dandelions Only Food for Many in Two Valleys Of Misery an Hour From City

WASHINGTON, Pa.—Starvation again threatened 300 unfortunates who people Penowa's Twin Valleys of Misery today as bread and other supplies provided a week ago dwindled and bare cupboards told a mute story of suffering and want.

Grass and dandelion greens were the only food available to some of the men, women and children today and soon will be the principal fare for others of the two tiny communities three miles west of Avella.

Only an hour's ride from Pittsburgh by auto, these mining camp inhabitants must turn to mother nature for whatever food they obtain unless good samaritans intervene.

Their mine-owned shacks perched high in the coal-yielding hills overlooking Penowa Station of the Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railroad, they are living with a single, unified hope supporting their weary spirits—the hope for food.

Share What They Have

Charity has come to the aid of the colonists at intervals. Farmers who till the scrawny soil still deeper in the hills have given of their limited crops. A few of the men have been able to obtain some form of work by taking their pay in groceries or vegetables, which they have divided with their fellow unfortunates.

But many a day, in many a home, the cupboard has been as bare as that of Mother Hubbard, and grass and dandelion greens plucked from the rolling hill tops have offered the only means of sustaining the breath of life.

The men of the colonies, about 100 in number, were employes of J. V. Stephenson, who had leased and operated the Penowa Mine, known sometimes as Cross Creek Mine and also as Waverly Mine, for about three years.

They received their last pay on Feb. 20, for work done in January, but, instead of cash, balance slips, listing groceries, rent, coal and doctor bills as against wages due the men, were handed out.

All Have Wages Due

All of the men of the colony have wages due. The mine shut down the first week in March. But there has been no accounting for work done in February. Some claim as much as $200 is due them.

About 75 are married and there are perhaps 200 children in the two settlements, under-nourished, pale and sickly. But they still can smile.

Among the lively spirits of the younger members of the pal asset is a million-dollar grin.
colonies is Johnny Jonoski, 11, a barefoot boy whose principal asset is a million-dollar grin.

Pancakes Provide Feast

"I feel good today," said this real-life Huckleberry Finn when Press reporters visited the colony. "I had pancakes for breakfast today. And I think we got some stew for tonight, too."

Johnny is one of several children. His father, like the other miners, has no money. He has wages coming from the mine—and has filed a claim.

But when, if ever, he will be paid is a matter of pure conjecture.

A week ago the Washington County Poor Commissioners sent a number of $5 grocery order checks to the colony, and the Jonoskis received one of them. That is why there was flour for pancakes in the larder, and why Johnny expected stew for dinner.

All Fast for Days

A month ago, after a story in The Press revealing the suffering in the Valleys of Misery, the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company sent two truckloads of food to Penowa Station.

But those supplies had been exhausted long before last week's groceries were received, and there were days of fasting for all in the Valleys—days that left Johnny's cheeks lean and drawn, that shrunk a little more his slender girth line, and took an added toll from his birthright of boyhood.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think there is nothing more dangerous than that those who control the government should ignore the situation that exists at the present time and try to say that there is no starvation or suffering in Pennsylvania. I know many of you didn't like the parade that appeared up here yesterday; you didn't like the method of those people, you didn't like what they said, but regardless of what we may think or what they do or the manner in which they said it, we have to realize that people are not going to starve peacably, and those in control of the government, and particularly this legislature, will be absolutely responsible if we adjourn and do nothing about the situation that exists in the State today. It is a serious matter and deserves our attention. It is all right for you to say that they are radicals, that they are fools, that they are crazy and that they demand help that it is impossible to give. I think all of you know that while there were some in that crowd of that type, yet you could never have gotten a crowd like that together to come up here if there had not been a great deal of unemployment and suffering, and of misery that caused them to do it. That is but an indication of the conditions that do exist and I think that the Governor and the officers of this Commonwealth should not go around saying there is no suffering, there is no starvation, and that in doing so they are doing themselves and this Commonwealth a great injustice, and are taking chances on starting for us a great deal of trouble. People who are starving are not going to receive statements of that kind very kindly. We have to meet this situation. We have to admit the truth of the statement made yesterday morning that this Legislature has been in session for three months or more and has done absolutely nothing as far as unemployment is concerned. We should give this matter serious consideration and we should do something about it.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Hoopes permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. What have you done to help pass my Saturday bills to bring about relief from unemployment?

Mr. HOOPES. What have you done to help pass my unemployment insurance bills?

Mr. SOWERS. A whole lot, but what have you done to accomplish the passage of my Saturday bill?

Mr. HOOPES. As much as you have done to pass my unemployment insurance bill.

Mr. SOWERS. That means you have done nothing to relieve unemployment by considering legislation.

Mr. HOOPES. If you have done nothing.

Mr. SOWERS. I am not on the Insurance Committee.

Mr. HOOPES. And I am not on the committee that has your Saturday bills.

Mr. SOWERS. I beg your pardon, but you are.

Mr. HOOPES. I am not. What committee has them?

Mr. SOWERS. Don't you know?

Mr. HOOPES. No committee that I am on has them.

Mr. SOWERS. Have you not for the benefit of the public and the unemployed been following the bills so as to know what committees they are in?

Mr. HOOPES. I know of no bill of yours on the Saturday question that has come before a committee of which I am a member.

Mr. SOWERS. That is all you know about it?

Mr. HOOPES. That is not all I know about it.

Mr. SOWERS. Have you any other remedy for the relief of unemployment, besides your insurance bills.

Mr. HOOPES. A number of things.

Mr. SOWERS. Where are your bills for the relief of unemployment?

Mr. HOOPES. A number of bills have been introduced trying to relieve unemployment which would be something better than nothing.

Mr. SOWERS. What are the numbers of your bills?

Mr. HOOPES. My unemployment bills are numbers thirty and thirty-four.

Mr. SOWERS. What are the other numbers of your bills?

Mr. HOOPES. These other bills which I have introduced I think would meet this situation most adequately.

Mr. SAWERS. Don't you know that this House today passed a minimum wage bill for the relief of unemployment?

Mr. HOOPES. They passed a minimum wage bill, but I don't think the bill will help the unemployment situation particularly.

Mr. SOWERS. What? You don't think it will de some good?

Mr. HOOPES. Yes, certainly, I voted for it?

Mr. SOWERS. Don't you think other members voted for it?

Mr. HOOPES. I don't think this measure will improve or particularly relieve the unemployment situation. It will help the workers generally, but it will not relieve the half million of unemployed we have in this State; it will help a little, but very little.

Mr. SOWERS. Did not you and the rest of us vote the other day for the relief of unemployment in Philadelphia by passing a $3,000,000 bill.

Mr. HOOPES. Yes, and where has it gotten to?

Mr. SOWERS . Now, you are still going to continue to work for it?

Mr. HOOPES. Absolutely.

Mr. SOWERS. Well, do something then besides talking.

Mr. HOOPES. I am doing more than you are doing. I think the advice of the gentleman from Philadelphia could very well be taken by himself.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

COMMUNICATION FROM SECRETARY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS TRANSMITTING INFORMATION RELATIVE TO AMOUNT OF TAXES LEVIED BY LOCAL GOVERNMENTS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate communication from the Secretary of Internal Affairs, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Department of Internal Affairs,
Harrisburg, Pa., April 27, 1931.

To the Members of the General Assembly:

In response to Resolution No. 3, which was adopted by the House of Representatives on February 24, and concurred in by the Senate on April 8, I transmit herewith a report of the Bureau of Statistics setting forth in summary form the amount of taxes levied by local governments in Pennsylvania for all purposes, including the opening and improvement of streets and roads. Data showing the amounts spent for streets and roads are not separately available at this time, and will have to be obtained by a special survey, the results to be reported to the next session of the General Assembly.

Very respectfully,
JAMES F. WOODWARD,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Department of Internal Affairs, Bureau of Statistics,

April 24, 1931.

Hon. James F. Woodward,
Secretary of Internal Affairs,
Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Mr. Woodward:

At your request we have prepared a summary of such data, available in the Bureau of Statistics, as would bear upon Resolution No. 3, introduced in the House by Hon. Elder Peelor.

The tables herewith submitted show that in 1928 the total taxable valuation for county purposes of realty, occupations, money at interest, etc., was $12,556,101,407, of which $2,942,467,809 represents money at interest taxable at four mills on the dollar and the remainder or $9,613,633,598, represents all other assessments taxable at the different rates applicable in the respective counties.

During the last six years for which complete figures are available, taxes levied for local purposes in Pennsylvania increased over 43 per cent. as the following tabulation discloses:

Year	County and poor taxes	City, boro and twp. taxes	School taxes	Total local taxes
1923	$39,691,039	$104,440,667	$106,020,227	$250,151,933
1924	43,502,492	113,802,183	114,955,218	272,259,893
1925	48,671,158	122,123,039	129,522,310	300,316,507
1926	53,205,430	132,840,517	135,891,925	321,937,872
1927	53,323,523	137,817,377	139,327,499	330,468,399
1928	58,234,520	155,037,017	145,402,481	358,674,018
% increase
1923-1928	46.7	48.4	37.1	43.4

During the same period the net bonded indebtedness of local governments in Pennsylvania increased much more rapidly than taxes, the increase for all classes of local districts being approximately 75 per cent.

Year	County and poor debt	City, boro and twp. debt	School debt	Total local debt
1923	$ 78,408,332	$316,040,655	$136,537,312	$530,986,299
1924	90,449,426	328,074,984	163,147,312	581,671,722
1925	118,007,746	415,099,085	191,739,266	724,846,097
1926	150,017,927	483,437,194	204,580,469	838,035,590
1927	154,331,473	510,661,215	208,634,439	873,627,127
1928	163,612,082	550,182,075	212,122,910	925,917,067
% increase
1923-1928	108.7	174.1	55.4	74.4

Total taxes levied for all local purposes in Pennsylvania amounted to $358,674,018 in 1928, of which school taxes accounted for the largest portion, or 40.5 per cent, city taxes 31.1 per cent, county taxes 14.6 per cent, borough taxes 6.6 per cent, township taxes 5.6 per cent, and poor taxes 1.6 per cent.

Philadelphia levied city, school and poor taxes totaling $98,256,826, while the total for local taxes of all kinds in Allegheny County was $70,200,226. Philadelphia and Allegheny Counties together levied very nearly half of all local taxes in the State. Other counties in which large amounts were raised by local taxation are Luzerne with $20,410,523, Lackawanna $11,327,828, Montgomery $10,176,855, Delaware $9,446,646, Westmoreland $8,274,147, Cambria $7,351,282, Berks $7,329,315. On the other hand, there are 24 counties in which local tax levies fell below the $1,000,000 mark, and 16 counties ranged between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000.

City and school taxes levied in all the cities of the Commonwealth amounted to $183,292,171, nearly three-fourths of which were raised in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Scranton levied $4,759,667 for city and school purposes, Erie $3,952,575, Reading $3,735,498, Wilkes-Barre $3,557,745, Harrisburg $3,053,433, Johnstown $2,653,382, Allentown $2,622,452.

In 1928, four Pennsylvania cities had a city tax rate of 20 mills or more, while 16 cities had a school tax rate that high. The highest combined tax rate for city and school purposes was 57 mills and the lowest was 13 mills. Eight cities had a combined city and school rate of over 40 mills.

The aggregate net bonded indebtedness of all local governments in Pennsylvania, as reported at the close of 1928, was $925,917,067, of which the debts of cities represented 52.6 per cent, debts of school districts 22.9 per cent, counties 17.6 per cent, boroughs 5.0 per cent, townships 1.9 per cent, and poor districts .04 per cent. Twelve counties showed a bonded debt for all classes of districts of $10,000,000 or over, 10 counties ranged between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000, 25 counties between $1,000,000 and $5,000,000 and 20 counties each had bonded debts below $1,000,000.

More detailed figures for each county are given in the accompanying tables.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY W. VAN PELT,
Director, Bureau of Statistics.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows:

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 118

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 24, 1931.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 118, Printer's No. 10, entitled "An act to prohibit the driving entering roaming and straying of horses bovine animals hogs and sheep upon cultivated lands of persons not the owners of such animals."

This bill renders liable to a fine, which if not paid subjects to imprisonment, any person whose cattle, horses, sheep or hogs are negligently permitted to stray upon the cultivated lands of another, whether or not any damage if inflicted upon the land owner.

It would be a drastic law that would subject the owner of cattle to a penalty where no actual injury was intended and where in fact no damage resulted from an unintentional trespass.

The trespass might be upon a field in which there was only grass, or wheat, corn or oats stubble. In such case no appreciable injury sould be shown. To subject the owner of cattle to criminal process under such circumstances would be oppressive and unjustifiable.

Our trespass laws on this subject fully cover all damages suffered, and in my judgment supply every present need.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. PARKINSON. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 422

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 24, 1931.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 422, Printer's No. 90, entitled: "An act making an appropriation to the Board of Trustees of the Phillipsburg State Hospital of Phillipsburg, Pennsylvania for deficiencies in the construction of hospital buildings and equipment."

This bill proposes to make an appropriation to the Board of Trustees of the Phillipsburg State Hospital "for the payment of all deficiencies in the construction of hospital buildings and equipment and interest thereon."

The reason for the passage of this bill is that prior to 1927 the trustees of the hospital incurred obligations in excess of appropriations for building construction purposes. The trustees executed notes for the deficit. In 1927, the Legislature appropriated $88,463.50 "for a deficiency in the construction of hospital buildings and equipment," but intended to authorize the money to be used for the payment of the notes. My predecessor approved this appropriation in the amount of $60,000.00, stating that he did so "with the understanding that sufficient funds will be raised locally to pay off the entire indebtedness of the institution." (1927 Appropriation Acts, Page 193).

The present bill recites that it has been found impossible, owing to financial conditions in the mining industry in the community where the hospital is located, to raise, locally, the moneys necessary to pay off the notes given by the trustees for the amount which the State has not paid.

Notes given by trustees to cover expenditures in excess of appropriations are not obligations of the Commonwealth. They are obligations solely of the individual trustees. The amount of such notes is not a "deficiency" within the legal meaning of that term. Therefore, an appropriation for the payment of a deficiency could not properly be used to pay the notes with interest thereon.

If the Legislature desires to appropriate money for the payment of these notes and to ratify the illegal action of the trustees in contracting for expenditures in excess of appropriations, it should frankly and clearly state that purpose. The fiscal officers of the Commonwealth should not be impliedly requested to authorize the use of money for a purpose other than that expressly set forth in the bill.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 588 (House Bill No. 1013), as follows:

An Act to validate the remarriage of residents of this Commonwealth against whom a decree of divorce has been entered in another State and to declare the issue of such remarriage legitimate

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in all cases in which prior to the passage of this act a decree of divorce has been entered by a court of any other state of the United States of America against a resident of this Commonwealth and such resident of this Commonwealth has heretofore remarried or shall hereafter remarry within this Commonwealth any such remarriage shall be deemed valid for all purposes and any children heretofore or hereafter born of such remarriage shall be deemed legitimate

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. RIAL. Mr. President, there seems to be some misapprehension about the purpose of this bill. This act is to validate the remarriage of residents of this Commonwealth against whom a decree of divorce has been entered in another State. It does not apply to Mexican divorces or to divorces which have been granted in a foreign country. The chief purpose of the Act is to validate the remarriage of the innocent party to such a divorce, or, in the event of the remarriage of the innocent party and the birth of children, it will legitimatize the children.

I think some members of the Senate are under some misapprehension as to that, and I feel it my duty to make this explanation. I am not the proponent of this bill, but I have some friends who are interested in it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FREEMAN. Mr. President, before the members of the Senate cast their votes upon this bill, I think their attention should be called to just what it means. The first section of the bill provides that any county of the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh or eighth class may be authorized and empowered to acquire by lease, purchase or condemnation any land lying either within or without the limits of said county.

Now if that means anything it means that if we of Lebanon wish a nice piece of land down in Bucks, we can go down there and seize it by condemnation proceedings; and I believe we are going entirely too far in this condemnation matter, and that we should be slow in passing this bill.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FREEMAN. Mr. President, this bill, if passed, would make possible the condemnation of lands by the Department of Property and Supplies. Now, the sponsor of this bill has a very good reason for wanting this in here, but it does not appear to me that there are some other considerations which are even more important.

I think we have about come to the time when we should make up our minds whether the departments are to be our servants or our master. Year after year we have been giving over more and more authority to these departments,—until it has come to a point where they are telling us, and the people whom we are supposed to represent, what we are to do; and I, for one, am very much opposed to any further grant of this sort of authority of departments of the Commonwealth.

Mr. SORDONI. Mr. President, the Senator from Lebanon, Mr. Freeman, has never flown in an airplane; so we can, of course, excuse his lack of appreciation for this bill.

This bill grants the Aeronautical Commission of the State of Pennsylvania authority to condemn ground for emergency landing fields, and so forth,—which is absolutely essential to the safety and well-being of the people who are carried in airplanes, including the pilots of passenger and mail planes. It is going to be used by the Aeronautical Commission, and that Commission is composed of people of intelligence and integrity. I believe this is a step in the right direction. This bill is the result of a conference by people interested in aviation, after public hearings; and it is the concensus of opinion of those men that this bill should be passed.

I quite agree with the Senator from Lebanon, Mr. Freeman, in connection with the other bills, as to condemnation; but this bill is absolutely essential for the State of Pennsylvania, because over some of these mountainous airways it is very difficult to find landing fields. The conditions are not like those in the west and middle west where there are many fields that are level; but here we see farmers having fields high in the mountains, where it is necessary to establish emergency landing fields, and they very frequently hold the department up to a point where it cannot afford to pay the price demanded, and as a result the passenger and aviator cannot secure a safe place to land. Therefore, I ask your earnest consideration of this bill. It is not my own bill, it is a department bill; but it is absolutely essential to the well-being of the citizens of this state.

Mr. FREEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni, the sponsor of the bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORDONI. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. FREEMAN. Mr. President, I am wondering how the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni, knows that the Department of Property and Supplies will confine its activities in condemnation to the mountains.

Mr. SORDONI. Mr. President, naturally, I have no way of knowing that the Department will confine its activities to the mountainous sections; but I feel that the Department, with the limited amount of money available, will have to exercise due prudence in any condemnation. If they go into our county, —if I may be permitted to speak about the county I am interested in,—and they begin condemnation proceedings, the individual whose land they condemn will receive a fair value for that ground, and in no instance is the man going to be robbed, —he is going to get a just and decent compensation for his ground.

We have an illustration up in Mehoopany at the present time, where one farmer is willing to sell a piece of ground for something like a hundred dollars an acre. There is not enough in that piece of ground to form a landing field, and it will be necessary to have an adjoining piece of land. The farmer who owns this adjoining land wants something like five hundred dollars an acre, and that is on land assessed at about twenty dollars an acre. It is injustice of that kind of thing that leads me to ask for the passage of this bill.

Mr. PRESIDENT and Gentleman, it is sane legislation, in my estimation. I have flown a good bit, and I tell you it is a funny feeling—and I hope the Senator from Lebanon, Mr. Freeman, never gets it—when you are up two or three thousand feet and your motor goes dead.

Mr. HUNSICKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORDONI. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. HUNSICKER. Mr. President, I would like to know how the Department of Property and Supplies will know when the emergency takes place, and how to arrange where it is.

Mr. SORDONI. Mr. President, that is like suggesting to the farmer to go out and inspect the fire plugs twenty-four hours before the fire. But the fact is, Mr. President, there are certain airways laid out in the State of Pennsylvania. There is one east and west, as you know, carrying the New York mail. There is another one from Wilkes-Barre to New York City. There is another one from Wilkes-Barre to Buffalo by way of Elmira. There is another one from Wilkes-Barre to Philadelphia. And so it goes. On these regularly established air routes it is absolutely essential that every so many miles apart emergency landing fields be purchased by the State, and maintained and equipped by the State; and in many instances, as I just mentioned a moment ago, the farmers owning ground—because they feel the state has something to do with it—ask exhorbitant prices.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORDONI. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, I understand that the Department of Property and Supplies say that the amount of money is limited. Can the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni, give me any assurance that it will be so in future years? And does he think that the State Department would use better judgment in the exercise of their Right of Eminent Domain than would the different counties?

Mr. SORDONI. Mr. President, that is rather a hard question to decide. Personally, I do not feel they would use any better judgment, other things being equal; but, because of the fact that they are more capable along the line of this particular business—I mean along the line of aeronautics—I think the Aeronautical Commission, who would make the recommendation to the Department of Property and Supplies, is better equipped to decide what should and what should not be in connection with a matter of this sort.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, I hope the members of the Senate will see fit to vote "no" on this bill. I represent a populous district of the State, and there are gentlemen in my county who are very much against Eminent Domain in any respect. I think that might well be said for the eastern part of our State.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. O. B. Poulson, offered the following prayer:

Thou hast taught us Lord, that men ought always to pray and not to faint. In obedience to Thy command and in fulfillment of that which is to us both privilege and duty, we seek to approach into Thy presence in prayer. We bless Thee that angelic hosts cry out unto Thee, saying "Worthy art Thou, O Lord, to receive glory and honor and power; for Thou hast created all things, and for Thy pleasure they are and were created."

We thank Thee for the many favors we have received at Thy hands. If we would declare them, they are more than can be numbered. Thou art always reminding us that "Ye are of more value than many sparrows." Because Thou dost think upon us for good,—showering upon us unmerited favors,—teach us Lord, to be thankful where we can not repay.

As we meet again within these honored walls may the hand Divine lead us lest we go astray from Thy wish and Thy will. We pray especially for those co-laborers of ours who are absent from us because of affliction. Be Thou to them the great Physician. Bless the deliberations of this hour and may all our labors show forth Thy praise. Amen.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Sarig, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, last Wednesday night when I reached my home, I picked up my local paper there, and saw on the front page the following headline "Watch Legislators Now, Pinchot Advised," and then it goes on to say, "Governor Pinchot today issued a statement to the people of Pennsylvania, advising them that as the adjournment of the Legislature is probably only a month away, this is the time to watch legislation and to watch legislators at Harrisburg," and then, further on down, it says, "What I want you men and women of good will to do is to get after your Senators and Representatives, whether they need it or not and remind them that you want the things done that you voted for last fall."

Ladies and gentlemen, isn't that a typical example of the Pinchot psychology and the Pinchot philosophy of government? It reminds me of the school teacher who used to whip the whole school every morning in anticipation not of what they had done but what they might do during the day that was coming. And, now, here is the Governor trying to whip the whole legislature not for what this legislature has done, but for what this legislature might do in the remaining days of the session. I just want to take a minute and analyze this peculiar Pinchot psychology, this peculiar Pinchot mentality. What does it mean? It means that he assumed that every member of this House is bound by the promises that he made to the people last fall, that he has the mandate of the people, and that every member of the House is bound to fall in line with him.

What does his accusation mean? He points the finger of suspicion at every member of this House. First of all, he says in that statement further on, that a certain number of the members in the Assembly are working against the people. He means by that those are opposed to the Administration. In plain words, if you boil it down to its real essence, he means that those who are against the administration, he means that those who vote against the administration are enemies of the people. But what does he say about his friends? Does he trust them? Hear what he says "See all of them. Get after them whether they need it or not." In other words, "my friends are all right, but they have no backbone, they are spineless weaklings." I would rather have the stigma that he places upon his enemies or opponents than have the stigma that he places upon his own friends, because if this statement means anything, it means that his friends have no backbone, that they are spineless, that they have backbones of rubber, that they cannot stand the wiles of lobbyists who are around the capital here. I call your attention to this statement, to analyze it and see just what it means: The Governor says that every member of this House is bound by the mandate of the people. If that is so, then why have a legislature at all? In the first place, I would suggest that if you want to keep up the semblance of a legislature, if you want to keep up the pretense of a legislature then, for heaven's sake why don't he economize, because he preaches economy, and put two hundred robots in these seats. You all know what a robot is, you push one button and he says, Aye, and you push another button, and he says No. When some bill comes along that he wants he will just push one button and the two hundred robots with one accord will shout aye, and then if some bill comes along, an anti-prohibition bill, or an anti-administration bill, then he presses the negative button and the two hundred will vote no. But I do not see the necessity of keeping up this pretense if this Governor is right, there is no excuse for this Legislature to be here. Why not abolish it entirely and put it on his Royal Highness, Gifford the First of Pennsylvania?

In the next place I call your attention to this fact: does not his very statement show a guilty conscience, is he not feeling guilty because he has made so many promises, and is not redeeming them, and he is now reneging on them, he is reneging on his tax revision promises, he is reneging on his road promises, he is reneging on his economy promises, he is reneging on a great many of them, and I say to you if anybody needs watching, watch the Governor, there is the real nigger in wood pile. If you are going to watch anybody, if any watching is necessary in this legislature, I say to the people of Pennsylvania, turn your eyes to the Executive Chamber and there you will find the real nigger in the wood pile. There is where the pledges are broken. If these twenty thousand miles of road cannot be paved with anything else, they can, at least, be paved with the broken promises of Gifford Pinchot.

In the next place, the Governor assumes that every one of us is bound by his campaign pledges. In my county forty-eight thousand votes were cast. Gifford Pinchot polled twelve thousand five hundred votes, or approximately twenty-five per cent. Mr. Hemphill polled twenty-seven thousand. Mr. Maurer the candidate of the Socialist Party polled approximately ten thousand votes. Pinchot polled twelve thousand five hundred, or approximately twenty-five per cent of the votes cast in my county, but he has the audacity, he has the boldness to come and tell the people of the state that all the members of the legislature including our county and including those from the counties which he lost, are bound by a mandate of the people. If that is true, then there is no excuse for this legislature whatsoever.

I just want you to take a moment and reflect, I want you to reflect for your yourselves. Is this Pinchot psychology not exactly the same psychology and the same governmental philosophy which Louis the XIV, the Bourbon King expressed in France, when he slapped himself on the chest and said, "I am the State?" Isn't it the same philosophy that the Kaiser Wilhelm used when he said: "Ich undt Gott regiere die weldt". Isn't it the same philosophy that every autocrat throughout the history of the world has used when he has said: "I am the people." Louis the XIV said, "I am the state," but the Bourbons have long since been driven from the throne of France into exile, and the Kaiser is now sawing wood at Doorn, in Holland. Pinchot says, "I am the people" and I predict just as with Louis the XIV and Kaiser Wilhelm that some day he will be busy up in Milford catching trout instead of running the state of Pennsylvania. This proposition was conceived in selfish ambition, it was born in selfish ambition it has lived a life of selfish ambition, and it is going to die of selfish ambition. In my mind's eye I can see this epitaph out in the cemetery:

"Here lies the Pinchot Administration, aged four,
Surely it can humbug the people no more.
It died of a mania,
Caused by bull, bunk and bologna,
Peace to its ashes for ever more."

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman from Berks. Mr. Sarig, under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

RESOLUTION NO. 42

Mrs. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 42, Printer's No. 670.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 22, 1931.

Whereas, Under present law, practically every measure for the advancement of the interests of the workers must be fought out in each of the forty-eight states and when a victory is won, there is danger that the Supreme Court of the United States will declare legislation for the protection of wage earners unconstitutional; and

Whereas, In order to abolish this condition, there is being advocated an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, known as the "Workers' Rights Amendment", which, if adopted, would permit Congress and the several states to enact social welfare legislation, and which reads as follows:

ARTICLE XX

Section1. The Congress shall have power to establish uniform laws throughout the United States to regulate, limit and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age; to provide for the relief of aged, invalided, sick and unemployed wage earners and employes in the form of periodical grants, pensions, benefits, compensation or indemnities from the public treasury, from contributions of employers, wage earners and employes, or from one or more of such sources; and generally for the social and economic welfare of the workers in the United States.

Section 2. The power of the several states to enact social welfare legislation is unimpaired by this Article, but no such legislation shall supersede, abridge or conflict with any act of Congress under this Article.

Therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the Legislature of Pennsylvania endorses such proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States and urges upon the Members of the House of Representatives and the Senate of the United States the passage of the same; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to each Member of the House of Representatives of the United States from Pennsylvania and to each of the two United States Senators from Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mrs. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in presenting this resolution, I wish to state that I believe it would be to the best interests of the people of this country —and particularly to the best interests of the great masses of working people—to include in the Constitution of the United States a new amendment, which would empower the Congress of the United States to enact legislation for the regulation of child labor; to provide assistance in the form of monetary compensation for the aged, for sick, injured and unemployed workers or employes; and in general for the social and economic welfare of workers in the United States.

The proposed amendment which this resolution endorses, and which I hope this body will adopt, would merely give the Congress the power to enact labor legislation along the lines I have indicated, without however impairing the power of the several States to enact welfare legislation if they see fit to do so. Such an amendment to the Constitution would enable our national lawmaking body to legally cope with the situation such as now confronts us, with six or more million persons unemployed, and to do so without the danger of having laws designed for the relief of the victims of our economic system declared unconstitutional.

Legislation which the adoption of this proposed federal amendment would make possible would be beneficial to the people as a whole. Such legislation being national in scope, would not handicap the economic life and activities of the States farthest advanced in social and labor legislation. On the other hand it would tend to stabilize industry, by stabilizing working conditions throughout the entire country, and everywhere improving the material welfare ot the masses and making their livelihood more secure.

Improved and automatic machinery, business mergers and speed-up methods will go on swelling the army of permanently unemployed workers, and precepitate other depressions similar to or even more severe than the present one. Do you imagine that millions of persons and their dependents will forever consent to accept charity or starve peaceably in the midst of plenty? Would it not be far better now to begin to pave the way for remedial legislation than to some day face millions of hungry, desperate men and women who have thrown caution to the winds, who scorn the beggarly doles of private charity, and who through violence thrust upon them as a last resort, seek the justice our capitalist societv now denied them?

Workers are entitled to legislative protection not subject to judicial review" and nullification by any court; and the right to this protection, set forth in definite and specific terms, should be written into the Federal Constitution. I trust that this will be done before it is too late to avert a national calamity during the present or some future depression; and I hope that you will adopt the resolution now before you urging upon the National Congress the passage of a "Workers' Rights Amendment," such as is embodied in this resolution. I move the adoption of the resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

MOTION TO LAY ON TABLE

Mr. STORB. Mr. Speaker, I move that the resolution be laid upon the table.

Mr. EDERER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the maker of this motion.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Storb, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STORB. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know what the object of the gentleman from Montgomery is in moving that this resolution be laid on the table at this time?

Mr. STORB. Mr. Speaker, I do not think there is any good in it.

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker, well, let it go to a vote. Mr. Speaker, I have heard a great deal said about this session not accomplishing anything and not doing anything in the way of giving relief to the worker, and I cannot see but that this would be an opportunity to do something if we are really inclined so to do.

I would ask the members of the House to vote against the resolution.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to speak to you but one moment. I ask you to vote down this motion to table this resolution, because it is too humane legislation to kill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF INVESTIGATION ON RESOLUTION NO. 10

Mr. D. GLENN MOORE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I desire to offer the preliminary report of the House Committee on Investigation of the Public Service Commission and Public Utilities created under Resolution No. 10, adopted on February 17.

This report is signed by five members of the Committee, Mr. Richards, Mr. Hagmaier, Mr. Memolo, Mr. Rhodes and the Chairman.

The Committee has had it prepared in printed form, and it will shortly be laid on the desks of the members, and together with the report I wish to file this letter:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Harrisburg, Pa.

Committee on Investigation of Public Service Commission and Public Utilities Companies
Room 601, South Office Building

April 24th, 1931.

Honorable D. Glenn Moore, Chairman, Committee on Investigation of Public Service Commission and Public Utilities Companies, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania:

Sir:—

Under legislative provision we, the undersigned, have been sitting with your Committee as observers at hearings and participating in the conferences leading to the drafting of your Report.

This document is quite rightly to be considered the act of the voting members who are the direct representatives of the Legislature. However, we find ourselves to be in accord both with the methods used in conducting the inquiry and the conclusions based thereon, so that we are glad to avail ourselves of the opportunity of approving the report as drafted.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) Rev. JAMES R. COX
(Signed) H. J. CRAWFORD
(Signed) MORRIS L. COOKE

Mr. D. GLENN MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the report together with this letter be spread on the Journal.

The SPEAKER. Does the Chair understand that all of this has been mimeographed or printed so that it will be available to the members?

Mr. D. GLENN MOORE. Not the communication; this report.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair will direct that the report of the Committee together with the letter of the observers be spread upon the Journal. The Chair hears none and it is so directed.

PRELIMINARY REPORT OF THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON INVESTIGATION OF THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION AND PUBLIC UTILITIES COMPANIES UNDER RESOLUTION NUMBER 10.

The Committee has held twenty-two hearings and heard testimony covering over three thousand pages. The evidence to date consists principally of:

(1) The experience of the public with utilities and the Public Service Commission.

(2) Analyses by accountants of the rates and reports of various classes of utilities on file with the Commission.

(3) Analyses by a valuation engineer of the valuation methods used by the Commission.

(4) Testimony of several members of the Commission and the Chiefs of its Bureaus of Law, Engineering and Accounts.

(5) Testimony of experts in the field of public utility control.

(6) Testimony of representatives of a few of the utilities.

The Committee submits the following summary of its preliminary conclusions:

(1) The evidence before us clearly shows that the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania has lost the confidence of the public.

The public service company law was designated primarily to protect the interests of the public in fair rates and to safeguard it from exploitation by utility companies. The Public Service Commission was intended to exercise its powers to prevent utilities from charging higher rates than necessary and to safeguard the investor.

(2) The evidence already before us shows that these objects have not been secured.

Under the law, as laid down by both the State and Federal courts, every utility is entitled to charge rates that will earn a fair return upon the fair value of its property. The Commission in Pennsylvania has almost uniformily held that this return should be seven per cent. It, therefore, becomes the duty of the Public Service Commission to so control the rates that this may be accomplished while protecting the public against unfair and discriminatory rates.

If rates are too high the Commission has the right under the law to initiate proceedings on its own behalf to reduce the rates.

It is apparent from the evidence that it has not instituted any complaints affecting rate reductions, (except during the years 1930 and 1931), notwithstanding the fact that for the past eight years reports filed with the Commission appear to have warranted inquiry on its part. From the evidence thus far adduced from 1925 to 1929 almost one-half of the electrical companies were earning, according to their own sworn statements, fifty per cent more than a seven per cent return on their depreciated book investment, which sometimes included inflations. Typical years show similar excess earnings by gas companies.

Any indifference or negligence on the part of the Commission tends to operate in favor of the utilities.

(3) The Public Service Commission has not only failed to use the information in its possession in the matter of rates, it has failed and neglected to use its powers in protecting investors in utility securities: (1) it has failed to make public the issuance of securities by holding companies, (2) it has without protest allowed certain utilities to "write-up" their fixed assets for the purpose of increasing security issues, (3) it has never certified any violation of the law to the Attorney General. The water company situation in many sections of the Commonwealth is an outstanding illustration of inflation by holding companies without objection or publicity from the Public Service Commission. The investing public has been left holding the bag.

(4) The Commission's neglect of its function as protector of the public has thrown the burden of expense of rate cases and appeals on citizens and municipalities, with the result of discouraging them in advance. Few important rate cases have been brought during the past ten years. We believe that the Commission has not disposed of some of these cases statements, fifty per cent more than a seven per cent return expeditiously. Many of them were not decided within three to six years. The decisions have usually favored the utilities. This has resulted in a marked lack of public confidence in the Public Service Commission.

(5) The reproduction cost system of valuation has not proven satisfactory. It enables the utilities to obtain high profits. Its use by the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania has been out of line with its use by other Commissions. In making valuations the evidence discloses that double weight has been assigned to it over actual cost. Since the fall of prices no important efforts have been made to secure to the public corresponding benefits. In rate cases the companies themselves have presented different valuations for their own properties differing from each other by as much as 100%. The utilities have been favored by this loose, uncertain guess-work.

(6) Privately owned electrical plants located where the conditions are not more favorable than those encountered in Pennsylvania cities, have obtained through regulation markedly lower rates than are found almost anywhere in the Commonwealth. Examples of this are Washington, D. C. 4.2 cents; Cleveland, Ashtabula and Lakewood, Ohio and Worchester, Mass., 5 cents.

The records of a number of municipally-owned and operated plants located in Pennsylvania indicate that they can operate profitably with much lower rates for domestic and commercial service than are charged by many private utilities under regulation as it has been administered here.

(7) Members of the Public Service Commission called before this Committee admitted that the Commission had been guilty of many errors of omission. Indifference and negligence on the part of the Commission have tended to operate in favor of the utilities.

Regulation, if it is to be made effective, must be administered by men who are not bound by their own past mistakes, and who are under no obligations of any kind to make the public suffer for the errors made in allowing mergers or security issues to pass unnoticed which have characterized the present Commission.

In view of the open record of negligence and indifference on the part of the present Commission in regard to electric profits and water securities alone, it is essential that a new regulatory body be created to supercede it.

Supplementing the foregoing conclusions the Committee also makes the following findings and recommendations as to certain phases of regulation:

SECURITY ISSUES

Under the present act every public service company is required to file with the Commission before issuing securities a certificate of notification giving full information as to the amount, purpose, terms of sale, etc. The Commission is empowered to give full publicity to this information. It may also require complete reports of the application of the proceeds of all securities and every utility is forbidden to apply such proceeds to any purpose other than that set forth in the certificate. While the Commission is not given authority directly to prevent the issue of securities, it may certify to the Attorney General any violations of the law in regard to security issues.

The Commission's own records disclose clearly that certain investment banking interests have made it a practice upon acquiring the stocks of Pennsylvania utilities to write up the fixed capital on the books to inflated values, to issue bonds of the operating company on the basis of such write-ups and to use all or a large part of the proceeds of such bond issues to reimburse themselves in whole or in part for the amount paid for the stock.

In some cases the bond proceeds are used to redeem stock, in others actually to pay dividends out of capital. The bankers have also obtained for themselves large profits in handling these securities.

Certainly the public would never have invested in such bonds if the true facts had been disclosed to them by the Commission. They have put real money into the companies for which they receive only a five or six per cent return, while the bankers, with little or no investment have obtained complete control of the companies and have received dividends running as high as 300 per cent on the state value of their investment, in cases brought to the Committee's attention.

Many of these abuses could, we believe, have been prevented through the use of powers already vested in the Commission, but it has taken no action. Admittedly, no case has ever been certified to the Attorney General, and so far as this Committee is informed the Commission has never seriously attempted to exercise any of its powers to prevent abuses in security issues. Flagrant violations of the law, according to reports filed with the Commission, have gone entirely unchallenged.

If regulation is to be made effective, a Commission must not only vigorously use the powers it now has over security issues, but the law must be strengthened by giving a Commission complete control over the issue, sale and disposition of proceeds of all securities affecting utilities under its control

HOLDING COMPANIES

Many of the evils about which the public complains have arisen from mergers and consolidations that eventually terminate in holding companies—many of them located outside the State. The result has been financial structures and expenses for financing which have had, as a more or less direct result, increases in rates causing antagonism on the part of the public.

It is clear that the holding company arrangement has by no means been as beneficial as is often claimed. In many cases holding companies have weakened the financial structures and credit of operating utilities. Large bankers' and brokers' commissions have aided this process. The Commission by allowing the merger of the Scranton-Spring Brook water properties in 1928, involving $29,000,000 additional and superimposed securities, practically invited the rate increase two months later to pay the additional return on the securities.

Management fees, purchase fees, construction and engineering fees have been uncontrolled to all intents and purposes. Service fees to holding companies have ranged as high as 106 per cent above the actual cost of service. All such charges must have a definite relation to the cost of the service rendered.

Fees based on the percentage of gross income such as used by Mitten Management in charging for services alleged to have been rendered to P. R. T., and quite commonly by holding companies, should be prohibited. The courts have held that operating expenditures must be reasonable both as to purpose and amount. This has become so clearly recognized that certain holding companies are now charging at cost management services rendered to operating companies.

We recommend that contracts for all such services shall be subject to control by a Commission and that the burden of proof as to the reasonableness of such fees shall be upon the operating company to show the reasonable cost to the affiliated interest of services rendered to the operating company. We also recommend that every utility be required to furnish full information in regard to those controlling it directly or indirectly.

REPARATIONS

The Commission should be given power to determine and award reparations in the same hearing in which it finds that existing rates are unjust, unreasonable or discriminatory. A provision of this sort would eliminate the necessity of every consumer filing a separate suit in order to obtain reparations to which he is justly entitled.

ASSESSMENT OF COSTS

As an administrative function a Commission should regulate the amortizing of companies' costs in rate cases. It should provide that where in a rate case the rates are found to be reasonable, the utility shall be entitled to a fair and reasonable amount for its expenses in conducting the case. This amount so fixed by a Commission should be amortized over a period of years, and upon the termination of the amortization period it should be obligatory upon the utility to eliminate this item from its operating expense. If, however, the Commission finds that the rates are unjust, unreasonable or discriminatory, the expenses incurred by the utility should be paid by the stockholders of the utility, and not be charged against the consumers in any way.

APPROPRIATION

The appropriation to a Commission should be substantially increased in order to permit it to employ sufficient personnel to conduct investigations and examinations, provide for necessary research and fulfill its responsibility of actively protecting the people's interests.

APPROVAL BEFORE RATE INCREASE

Legislation should be enacted prohibiting any increase in rates by any utility until after the proposed increase has been approved by a Commission and the statutory period for appeal has passed. In fairness to the utility the Commission should be required to render its decision within a stipulated time, but under no curcumstances should the rate go into effect until the consumers have had an opportunity to be heard.

APPOINTMENT OF A COMMISSION

Legislation permitting the Governor of the Commonwealth to appoint and remove all members of a Commission should be enacted. This is the procedure and power given to the President of the United States in regard to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

EXPENSE OF APPEALS

Legislation should be enacted so that in an appeal from a Commission the appellant should be permitted to print only those parts of the record that pertain to his appeal. This has for many years been the law with regard to appeals from the inferior courts.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

Fairly complete rural electrification in Pennsylvania is both socially desirable and economically feasible.

Agriculture is one of our greatest power-consuming industries. Every dirt farmer is a potential power user in contrast with urban consumers who use electricity only for light and minor household operations. Experience shows that with every drop in rates the farmers' use of electric current increases. As has been the case with other classes of electrical development—first lighting for urban homes and stores, then industrial and later suburban-rural electric lines must be given a period of development in which to reach a paying basis. Otherwise rates will be prohibitive and the present restricted use of service, due to initial guaranteed return, will go on.

A commission must control both the cost of lines and the service rates. At present it controls neither. The farmer should be charged with the cost of lines required for his immediate use and not on the basis of the company's ultimate requirements. In many sections of the State electrification on an area-basis,—making it possible to reach every farm,—can be done at less cost than reaching individual groups by single lines built at various times.

ACCOUNTS AND REPORTS

While, in many respects, the annual reports made to our Commission are more informative than those in other states, there is great room for improvement, without burdening the operating companies with additional accounting detail. In most of the reports the items for general expenses—in some instances reaching one-third of the total—should be further subdivided if these reports are to be genuinely informative. Both capital and operating entries of electric companies should be subdivided so as to show the total cost of each class of service.

Changes in accounting practices necessary for the introduction of routine cost-fining should be made. Under proper accounting and cost-finding procedures adjustments in rates both up and down may frequently be made without the expense and delays incident to a rate case.

Unless we can make a routine of many of the acts incident to regulation now invariably arising as special cases the system will become wholly unworkable.

NET INVESTMENT AS THE PENNSYLVANIA STANDARD FOR RATE BASE DETERMINATION

Fundamental to the re-establishment of public confidence in regulation are measures through which valuation procedures can be stabilized. Without having reached any final conclusion on this point from the testimony before us, we believe that this can only be accomplished through the adoption of prudent or net investment depreciated as the Pennsylvania standard in determining the base upon which return is to be computed in valuation cases. Valuations arrived at through the reproduction-cost-new method are indefinite.

The question of doing justice as between the utility companies and the community is not involved, as under either of the two methods of determining value for rate making purposes any proper return can be allowed. The testimony before us indicates that prudent investment is an amount exact within reasonably narrow limits, stable, and one which can be very largely obtained from the books. Reproduction-cost-new valuation depends upon the use of intangibles, in largely imaginative in its conception and constantly flunctuates with the price level.

The rising price level following the war led our higher courts to give increasing weight to the reproduction-cost-new method but the lowering price level of recent months has somewhat modified the enthusiasm of its advocates. The moment therefore seems ripe for the adoption by the Commonwealth of valuation techniques without which regulation as a means of controlling monopoly prices seems doomed to a failure.

In shifting from the reproduction-cost-new to the net cost or prudent investment basis the one most effective step that can be taken is to provide that the new base shall control operations after a certain date allowing the adjudication of the rate base for property acquired before the time to be settled as occasion offers according to "the law of the land."

Because there is no existing property involved a charter for a new company can provide, as one of the considerations for the grant, that fair return be computed upon the basis of its actual legitimate capital prudently invested. Mergers can be refused to those who will not accept the new basis on all future operations. It is believed that many of the companies already in existence will voluntarily accept the proposal. To those who do not, material increases in their charter rights should be refused unless and until they contract with the Commonwealth to effect this reform.

There remains the problem of bringing to the prudent investment standard those book values and rate bases representing property which was acquired previous to the adoption of the new rule. If original costs is definitely established for all new operations, some time—say a decade—may well be allowed for the completion of the task of adjusting all rate bases to the single standard.

The current downward drift in the price level, obsolescence, the rapidly increasing volume of new construction which is inherent in expanding industries and a saner interpretation of the reproduction-cost-new method than has been practiced in Pennsylvania in recent years are all causes which may be depended upon to minimize the difference between correct depreciated reproduction-cost-new valuations and those which will result from net investment as defined in the Federal Water Power Act of January 10, 1920. Under the procedure to be provided for approving security issues it should be stipulated that statements be given the public showing the relation between outstanding securities and the net investment.

These procedures for putting valuations in Pennsylvania on a factual basis are admitted to be far from drastic. But under the plan there will be avoided endless litigation as well as the necessity for immediate, extensive and costly valuations made under the "law of the land," with all the possibility of "freezing" rate bases at high and indefinite levels. To pass too rapidly from the present basis to the new, even if there were no legal hurdles, has serious operating difficulties. The new system will require novel and adequate accounting and management mechanisms, the orderly development of which will be facilitated by the somewhat gradual transition to the prudent investment basis. Further, if the change is made too rapidly one utility industry, or one company, may be affected quite differently from another, depending on the prices obtaining during the period of most active construction.

This is a situation where to take only a first step, and one which no interest can reasonably object, will probably give the most satisfactory long run results.

IMMEDIATE LEGISLATION

The recommendations made so far should be enacted into law at this Session of the Legislature. Most of them are substantially incorporated in House Bill No. 1630, 1631 and 1632.

The Committee submits this as a priliminary report, admittedly far from complete. Further findings and more compete recommendations will be made in a final report.

Respectfully submitted,

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. TURNER. I will say, Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, that I prefer to make remarks to the House or address the House, if you will, without reading from a prepared paper, but I feel that this is so important, that the phraseology and the terms and the facts related are of such importance that I should not attempt to do it from memory, but should place it upon paper, where it can be given exactly.

I am always reluctant to deal in matters of a personal nature. The issue before this House, however, and its far reaching effect on the welfare of this Commonwealth and her citizens, will not permit me, under the circumstances, to remain silent.

About a month ago the House Committee investigating the charges against the Public Service Commission and the Utilities, decided that a preliminary report making recommendations as to legislation should be prepared and submitted. It was agreed that the members of the committee would give to Counsel for the committee their views upon such changes in the law as seemed advisable from the evidence which had thus far been taken before the committee.

Accordingly, on April 15th, Counsel for the investigating committee submitted to the members a draft of a proposed report. A copy of that draft I hold in my hand.

An executive meeting was held by the members of the committee and the said report briefly discussed. There were a number of provisions which were not acceptable to some of the members of the committee, and I proceeded to prepare a redraft of a part of the report. This redraft was handed to members of the committee. After reading it, some of the members felt that they would like to study the report over the following Sunday, which was Sunday, April 19th. Thereupon the Chairman stated that he would call an executive session for three o'clock Monday, April 20th, at which time, we would endeavor to prepare the final draft for submission to the Legislature that night.

At three o'clock on Monday, April 20th, all of the members of the committee with the exception of the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Richards, met in executive session. The Assistant Counsel of the committee was also present. Neither the observers nor the counsel appointed by the Governor were there.

At this session another draft of a report was submitted by the Assistant Counsel, which differed in some respects and added material recommendations to the report that had been submitted the week before. I hold a copy of that report in my hand. The committee proceeded to consider this report, paragraph by paragraph, together with these sections that had been submitted by me. Where a unanimous agreement was not reached on any section, discussions were had, and motions for adoption were made and carried. This procedure likewise prevailed as to some sections that were stricken out. In the end only Section Four was in dispute.

It then being six-thirty o'clock, and the members being desirous of adjourning, it was suggested that the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Rhodes, and myself, would endeavor to prepare a redraft of Section Four and submit it to the members during the evening.

Accordingly, a draft of paragraph four was prepared by Mr. Rhodes during the evening and submitted to me. It being acceptable, at Mr. Rhodes' suggestion, we took it to Mr. Moore, and the same meeting with his approval, the Chairman wrote his O. K. upon the paper and it was dispatched by a page boy to Mr. Walker, the Assistant Counsel for the Committee, and was later delivered to him in the House.

At the conclusion of the meeting that afternoon, Mr. Walker asked the committee whether the report should be put in final shape as he did not want to have stencils cut until he knew that the report was complete. He was told by the committee that the report was now complete with the exception of Section Four, the draft of which would be given to him later. As there had been changes in the draft that had been submitted that afternoon, he was instructed to have the report typed and to bring it back to the committee on Tuesday morning for signature.

On Tuesday morning, April 21st, during the session of the House, I inquired of the Chairman, Mr. Moore, as to whether he had received the report from Mr. Walker, and he advised me that he had not, and asked me whether I had not received it, to which I replied "No".

Later I renewed the question with Mr. Moore, and was advised by him that he had not as yet received the report.

Later in the afternoon the Chairman, Mr. Moore, passing my desk, I asked him, "Who was holding up the report?" His reply was that he did not know unless the Attorney General was doing so, to which I made the query, "What has the Attorney General to do with our report?" He shrugged his shoulders and walked away.

Some time later I inquired of Mr. Rhodes what had become of our report. He said he wanted to know, so he had gone to the office of the committee in the South Office Building, and that Mr. Walker, our Assistant Counsel, had told him that Mr. Moore had held it up.

On Wednesday morning, April 22nd, I again inquired of the Chairman as to the report, and was advised by him that the stenographers had been unable to work on the report the day before, that he had gone to the office that morning, had found that some of the papers had been lost and that the report was all mixed up. However, he stated, he had gotten it straightened out and that the report would be delivered to us during the day. However, the report did not appear.

During the afternoon hearing of the House Investigating Committee, the Chairman stated that he would like to have an executive session and this was finally arranged for nine-thirty that night, being Wednesday, April 22nd. At that meeting all of the members of the committee but Mr. Bowers were present. The three observers appointed by the Governor were there, as were Mr. Evans, the Counsel appointed by the Governor, and Mr. Walker, Assistant Counsel. A typewritten report was handed to the committee, which, upon being compared with the report as approved and adopted by the committee on Monday, to my amazement, was found to contain paragraphs which had been previously considered and rejected from the report on Monday afternoon. Section Four, as prepared by Mr. Rhodes, was not in the report, but the one rejected was in again, and recommendations and findings and conclusions which did not even appear in any of the previous drafts had been inserted. The inquiry was then made, by whose authority the report had been changed, and as there was no statement forthcoming from the Chairman, the Assistant Counsel attempted to defend by saying that any changes in the report had been made at the direction of members of this committee. As there had been no meeting of the committee, such changes must have been made between Monday night and Wednesday night upon the demand of individual members and not in a meeting of the committee. It must be remembered that no notice of such change, or the desire for such change, was in any way called to the attention of myself, and insofar as I am able to gather no notice was given to other members of the committee, except that Mr. Hagmaier did state to me that he wanted paragraph four as it appeared in the original draft of April 20th and not as rewritten and agreed to by a majority of the committee.

The report submitted to this House tonight by the Chairman of the House Investigating Committee is not the report as adopted and approved at the committee meeting on Monday, April 20th.

We have refused to sign this report. In so doing we believe that the matter is far too important to permit it to pass without giving you the reasons therefor. It must be remembered that we are dealing with a great business in which billions of dollars of money are invested in this State, and large amounts of utility securities are in the possession, not alone of the rich, but of the average citizen, and the employes of these utilities, many of whom have invested their savings therein and are looking to the financial stability and the earning power of these companies for their competence and pensions in their old age. The ability of the industry to expand has a vital bearing upon the future development of Pennsylvania. At a time when we are expecting a great cut in the income of the State, most of which cut will come from the reduction in earning power of our corporations, one must bear in mind that the utilities have gone forward, and have been one of the bright spots in the business and employment depression that has been upon us. Therefore, any action that we may take or any legislation that we may enact must only be done after we have arrived at a calm and judicial determination of the issues supported by all of the testimony that we can secure. Any other course is contray to my training as a lawyer and my sense of fair play. The testimony is not all in. We have not heard all of the evidence, and I am loath to arrive at decisions on some of these questions until I have had the opportunity, not only to hear all the evidence, but also to review some parts thereof, which covers now over four thousand pages. And that this judgment is correct is proven by the fact that evidence heard last week changes my opinion on some of the findings in the report. To determine some of these questions would be like a jury rendering a verdict before the case was completed. True, such an investigating committee is not a court. While certain proprieties should be observed in the taking of testimony in such a proceeding, still it cannot be limited to rules of evidence that would apply in a judicial proceeding. By all the dictates of fairness, such testimony must be carefully weighed before basing conclusions thereon.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, we desire to submit and file the report of the committee adopted and approved on Monday, April 20th, which we decline to characterize as a minority report, because it must be apparent to all that, without the committee's consent, outside influence altered and surreptitiously changed the findings of the committee as made on Monday, April the 20th, and for purposes which are as apparent as the noonday sun.

I offer the following report signed by Mr. Bowers and myself.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal, and the report as filed by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, will also be spread upon the Journal.

The Committee has held twenty hearings and heard testimony covering over three thousand pages. The evidence to date consists principally of—

(1) The experience of the public with utilities and the Public Service Commission.

(2) Analyses of accountants of the rates and reports of various classes of utilities on file with the Commission.

(3) Analyses by a valuation engineer of the valuation methods used by the Commission.

(4) Testimony of four members of the Commission and the Chiefs of its Bureaus of Engineering and Accounts.

(5) The opinions of experts in the field of public utility control.

(6) Testimony of a few representatives of the utilities.

The Committee submits the following summary of its tentative conclusions:—

(1) The Public Service Company law was designated primarily to protect the interest of the public in fair rates and to safeguard it from exploitation by utility companies. The Public Service Commission was intended to exercise its powers to prevent utilities from charging higher rates than necessary, and to safe-guard the investor.

(2) Under the law, as laid down by both the State and Federal Courts, every utility is entitled to charge rates that will earn a fair return upon the fair value of its property. The Commission in Pennsylvania has almost uniformly held that this rate should be seven per cent. It, therefore, becomes the duty of the Public Service Commission to so control the rates that this may be accomplished while protecting the public against unfair and discriminatory rates. If rates are too high the Commission has the right under the law to initiate proceedings on its own behalf to reduce the rates. It is not apparent from the evidence that it has instituted any complaints affecting rate reductions (except during the year 1930 and 1931), notwithstanding the fact that for the past eight years reports filed with the Commission appear to have warranted inquiry on its part. From the evidence thus far adduced from 1925 to 1929 almost one-half of the electrical companies were earning, according to their own sworn statements, fifty per cent more than a seven per cent return on their depreciated book investment, which sometimes included inflations. Typical years show seemingly excess earnings by gas companies over a period of time.

Any indifference or negligence on the part of the Commission tends to operate in favor of the utilities.

(3) The Public Service Commission has no authority to prevent or restrict the issuance of securities. Under Article 3, Section 4, of the Public Service Company Law, the Commission is given the power to give such publicity (to security issues) as the Commission may deem to be for the public interest and welfare.

It has without protest allowed certain utilities to "write-up" their fixed assets for the purpose of increasing security issues. It has failed to make public the issuance of securities by holding companies. It has never certified any violations of the law to the Attorney General. The water company situation in many sections of the Commonwealth is an outstanding illustration of inflation by holding companies without objection by or publicity from the Public Service Commission. The investing company has been left holding the bag.

(4) The expense of rate cases and appeals on citizens and municipalities has been excessive, which has resulted in discouraging them in advance. Few important rate cases have been brought during the past ten years. We believe that the Commission has not disposed of these cases expeditiously; many of which were not decided within three to six years. The decisions usually have favored the utilities. This has resulted in a marked lack of public confidence in the Public Service Commission.

(5) The reproduction cost system of valuation has not proven satisfactory. It enables the companies to obtain high profits. Its use by the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania has been out of line with its use by other Commissions. In making valuations the evidence discloses double weight has been assigned to it over actual cost. Since the fall of prices no important efforts have been made to secure to the public corresponding benefits. In rate cases the companies themselves have presented different valuations for their own properties differing from each other by as much as 100 per cent.

The utilities have been favored by this loose and uncertain guess-work.

(6) Privately owned electrical plants located where the conditions are not more favorable than those encountered in Pennsylvania cities, have obtained through regulation markedly lower rates than are found almost anywhere in the Commonwealth. Typical examples are Washington, D. C., 4.2 cents; Cleveland, Ashtabula and Lakewood, Ohio, and Worcester, Mass., 5 cents. The records of a number of municipally owned and operated plants located in Pennsylvania indicate that they can operate profitably with much lower rates for domestic and commercial service than are charged by many private utilities under regulation as it has been practiced here.

SECURITY ISSUES

Under the present act every public service company is required to file with the Commission before issuing securities (except those payable within one year) a Certificate of Notification giving full information as to amount, purpose, terms of sale, etc. The Commission is empowered to give full publicity to this information. It may also require complete reports of the application of the proceeds of all securities and every utility if forbidden to apply such proceeds to any purpose other than those set forth in the Certificate of Notification. While the Commission is not given authority directly to prevent the issue of securities, it may certify to the Attorney General any violations of the law in regard to security issues.

The Commission's own records disclose clearly that certain investment banking interests have made it a practice upon acquiring the stocks of Pennsylvania utilities to write up the fixed capital on the books to inflated values, issue bonds of the operating company on the basis of such write-ups and use all or a large part of the proceeds of such bond issues to reimburse themselves in whole or in part for the amount paid for the stock. In some cases the bond issue proceeds are used to redeem stock, in others actually to pay dividends out of capital. The bankers have also obtained for themselves large profits in handling these securities. Certainly the public would never have invested in such bonds if the true facts had been disclosed to them. They have put real money into the company for which they receive only a five or six per cent return, while the bankers with little or no investment have obtained complete control of the company and have received dividends running as high as 300 per cent on the stated value of their investment in cases brought to the Committee's attention.

Many of these abuses we believe could have been prevented through the use of powers already vested in the Commission but it has taken no effective action. Admittedly, no case has ever been certified to the Attorney General, and so far as this Committee is informed, the Commission has never seriously attempted to exercise any of its powers to prevent abuses in security issues. Flagrant violations of the law according to the reports filed with the Commission have gone entirely unchallenged.

If regulation is to be effective, the Commission must not only vigorously use the powers it now has over security issues, but the law must be strengthened by giving the Commission complete control over the issue, sale and disposition of proceeds of all securities affecting utilities under its control.

HOLDING COMPANIES

Many of the ills about which the public complains have arisen from mergers and consolidations that eventually terminate in holding companies—many of them located outside the State. The result has been financial structures and expenses for financing that have had as a more or less direct result increases in rates causing antagonism on the part of the public.

It is clear that the holding company arrangement has by no means been as beneficial as is often claimed. In many cases holding companies have weakened the financial structure and credit of operating utilities. Large bankers and broker's commissions have aided this process.

Management fees, purchase fees, construction and engineering fees under the present law have been uncontrolled to all intents and purposes. Service fees to holding companies have ranged as high as 106 per cent above the actual cost of service. All such charges must have a definite relation to the cost of the service rendered. Therefore fees based on the percentage of gross income such as used by Mitten Management in charging for management services alleged to have been rendered to P. R. T. and quite commonly by holding companies should be prohibited. The courts have held that operating expenditures must be reasonable both as to purpose and amount. This has become so clearly recognized that certain holding companies are now charging at cost management services rendered to operating companies.

We recommend that contracts for all such services shall be subject to Commission control and that the burden of proof as to the reasonableness of such fees shall be upon the operating company to show the reasonable cost to the affiliated interest of services rendered to the operating company. We also recommend that every utility be required to furnish full information in regard to those controlling it directly or indirectly.

REPARATIONS

The Commission should be given power to determine and award reparations in the same hearing in which it finds that existing rates are unjust, unreasonable or discriminatory. A provision of this sort would eliminate the necessity of every consumer filing a separate suit in order to obtain reparations to which he is justly entitled.

ASSESSMENT OF COSTS

As an administrative function a Commission should regulate the amortizing of companies' costs in rate cases. It should provide that where in a rate case the rates are found to be reasonable, the utility shall be entitled to a fair and reasonable amount for its expenses in conducting the case. This amount so fixed and determined by the Commission should be amortized over a period of years and upon the termination of the amortization period it should be obligatory upon the utility to eliminate this item from its operating expenses. If, however, Commission finds that the rates are unjust, unreasonable or discriminatory the expenses incurred by the utility should be paid by the stockholders of the utility and not be charged against the consumer in any way.

COMMISSION'S APPROPRIATION

The appropriation to the Commission should be substantially increased in order to permit it to employ sufficient personnel to conduct its investigations and examinations, provide for necessary research and fulfill its responsibility of actively protecting the people's interests.

RATES SHOULD NOT BE INCREASED UNTIL AFTER APPROVAL BY THE COMMISSION

Legislation should be enacted prohibiting any increase in rates of any utility company until after the proposed increase has been approved by a Commission and the statutory period for appeal has passed. In fairness to the utility the Commission should be required to render its decision within a stipulated time but under no circumstances should the rate go into effect until the consumer has had his day in court.

APPOINTMENT OF THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

Legislation permitting the Governor of the Commonwealth to appoint and remove all members of a Commission should be enacted. Appointments and removals should be subject to the approval of the Senate.

EXPENSES OF APPEALS

Legislation should be passed so that in an appeal from the Public Service Commission the appellant should be permitted to print only those parts of the record that pertain to his appeal. This has for many years been the law with regard to appeals from the inferior courts.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

Fairly complete rural electrification in Pennsylvania is both socially desirable and economically feasible. Agriculture is one of our greatest power-consuming industries. Every dirt farmer is a potential power user in contrast with urban consumers who use electricity only for light and minor housekeeping operations. Experience shows that with every drop in rates the farmer's use of current increases. As has been the case with other classes of electrical development—first lighting for urban homes and stores, then industrial and later suburban—rural electric lines must be given a period of development in which to reach a paying basis. Otherwise rates will be prohibitive and the present restricted use of service due to initial guaranteed return will go on.

The Commission must control both the cost of lines and the service rates. At present it controls neither. The farmer should be charged with the cost of lines required for his immediate use and not on the basis of the company's ultimate requirements. In many sections of the State electrification on an area basis—making it possible to reach every farm—can be done at less cost than reaching individual groups by single lines built at various times.

ACCOUNTING AND REPORTING

While in many respects the annual reports made to our Commission are more informative than those of other states, there is great room for improvement without burdening the operating companies with additional accounting detail. In most of the reports the item for general expenses—in some instances reaching one-third of the total—should be further subdivided if these reports are to be genuinely informative. Both capital and operating entries of electric companies should be sub-divided so as to show the whole cost of each class of service. Changes in accounting practices necessary for the introduction of routine cost finding should be made. Under proper accounting and cost finding procedures adjustments in rates both up and down may frequently be made without the expense and delays usually incident to a rate case. Unless we can make routine of many of the acts incident to regulation now invariably arising as special cases the system will become wholly unworkable.

PROPOSAL FOR THE ADOPTION OF NET INVESTMENT AS THE PENNSYLVANIA STANDARD FOR RATE BASE DETERMINATION

Fundamental to the re-establishment of public confidence in regulation are measures through which valuation procedures can be stabilized. Without having reached any final conclusions from the testimony before us, we believe that this can only be accomplished through the adoption of prudent or net investment depreciated as the Pennsylvania standard in determining the base upon which return is to be computed in valuation cases. Valuations arrived at through the reproduction-cost-new method are indefinite.

The question of doing justice as between the utility companies and the community is not involved, as under either of the two methods of determining value for rate making purposes any proper return can be allowed. The testimony before us indicates that prudent investment is an amount exact within reasonably narrow limits, stable and one which can very largely be obtained from the books. Reproduction-cost-new valuation depends upon the use of intangibles, is largely imaginative in its conception and constantly fluctuates with the price level.

The rising price level following the War led our higher courts to give increasing weight to the reproduction-cost new method but the lowering price level of recent months has somewhat modified the enthusiasm of its advocates. The moment therefore seems ripe for the adoption by the Commonwealth of valuation techniques without which regulation as a means of controlling monopoly prices seems doomed to failure.

In shifting from the reproduction-cost-new to the net cost or net investment basis the one most effective step that can be taken is to provide that the new base shall control operations after a certain date allowing the adjudication of the rate base for property acquired before that time to be settled as occasion offers according to "the law of the land".

Because there is no existing property interest involved, as charter for a new company can provide, as one of the considerations for the grant, that fair return be computed upon the basis of its actual legitimate capital prudently invested. Mergers can be refused to those who will not accept the new basis on all future operations. It is believed that many of the companies already in existence will voluntarily accept the proposal. To those who do not, material increases in their charter rights should be refused unless and until they contract with the Commonwealth to effect this reform.

There remains the problem of bringing to the prudent investment standard those book values and rate bases representing property which was acquired previous to the adoption of the new rule. If original cost is definitely established for all new operations, some time—say a decade—may well be allowed for the completion of the task of adjusting all rate bases to the single standard.

The current downward drift in the price level, obsoloscence the rapidly increasing volume of new construction which is inherent in expanding industries and a saner interpretation of the reproduction cost-new method than has been practiced in Pennsylvania in recent years are all causes which may be depended upon to minimize the differences between current depreciated reproduction-cost-new valuations and those which will result from net investment as defined in the Federal Water Power Act of January 10, 1920. Under the procedures to be provided for approving security issues it should be stipulated that statements be given the public showing the relation between outstanding securities and the net investment.

These procedures for putting valuations in Pennsylvania on a factual basis are admitted to be far from drastic. But under the plan there will be avoided endless litigation as well as the necessity for immediate, extensive and costly valuations made under "the law of the land" with all the possibility of "freezing" rate bases at high and indefinite levels. To pass too rapidly from the present basis to the new, even if there were no legal hurdles, has serious operating difficulties. The new system will require novel and adequate accounting and management mechanisms, the orderly development of which will be facilitated by the somewhat gradual transition to the prudent investment basis. Further, if the change is made too rapidly one utility industry, or one company, may be affected quite differently from another depending on the prices obtaining during the period of most active construction.

This is a situation where to take only a first step, and one to which no interest can reasonably object, will probably give the most satisfactory long run results.

The Committee submits this as a preliminary report, admittedly far from complete. Further findings and more complete recommendations will be made in a final report.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK L. BOWERS.
ELLWOOD J. TURNER.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Richards, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I yield to no member of this body in my respect for the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner. My friendship for him goes back many years before my membership in this House began, and I trust that that friendship will continue for many years. But as much as I respect his judgment and as much as I cherish his friendship, I cannot let go unnoticed some of the remarks that he has made to you this evening, under a question of personal privilege.

Under the guise of a minority report, he has attempted to inject into your minds things which are absolutely untrue.

He tells you that the committee met on Monday afternoon to discuss the preliminary report, which was to be made, which is true. When he tells you that that report was adopted, I think that Mr. Turner has erred somewhat in his judgment or in his statement, because that report was not adopted, but it was taken up a paragraph at a time, and it was not adopted as a whole, nor was it signed. No report certainly can be filed or can be adopted finally until it is signed by the members of the committee.

This committee has been sitting for about eight weeks. I happen to be a member of the committee. The honor, or whatever you might care to call it, came to me unsolicited, it came at a time when I could ill afford the time or the expense of sitting on this committee, because you must not forget the days and the nights that we have spent in the capitol, over and beyond the adjournment of the weekly sessions of the House, have been at our own expense. There are many men in the House better able to afford financially, better able to afford the time, and also better able to sit as judges, if you please, than myself, but I was named by the Speaker of this House and I accepted the service. For eight weeks we have sat, not only in the afternoons and the mornings, but in the evenings until midnight, listening to testimony of witnesses. Those witnesses have included the members of the Public Service Commission, members of the personnel of the Public Service Commission, it's employes, members of the law, engineering and accounting bureaus of the Public Service Commission, analyses by experts of various kinds, some of the public utilities themselves. We have heard from the boroughs of the state, and I say to you ladies and gentlemen of this House, that if you will take the time to read that report, or rather the testimony that has been taken, or even a very small part of it, I think you will agree with me that the report that has been placed upon your desks tonight, is the kind of a report that should be made.

It so happens that one of the members of our Public Service Commission is a fellow-townsman of mine, and certainly it would not be my place to come down here and attempt to disparage him or cast any reflection upon a fellow-townsman, but this was an impersonal matter. This Committee was named by the Speaker, representing you, to look into a condition that has become nearly an open scandal in the state of Pennsylvania. You canot tell me that it would take you a year or two years to study, and debate and decide in your minds that there was something wrong in the Wyoming Valley. You cannot tell me that three thousand people would storm this Capitol if there was nothing wrong. You cannot tell me that the boroughs of this State—938 of them—would come down here and testify that in their opinion the confidence of the public in the Public Service Commission has been lost. Do you mean to tell me with the rates we have before us, with the Capital outlay and the financial structures that have been boosted of various utilities, have been boosted up just ad lib. that there is nothing wrong with that sort of financing, and that we should wait for a year or two years to file a preliminary report. Do you mean to sit here, anyone of you, and attempt to tell me seriously that there is nothing wrong in the regulation of the public utilities in the state of Pennsylvania today. I say to you that there is something wrong, otherwise we would not have had that storm of public opinion that has enshrouded the state for the past three years, and your committee, the Committee appointed by your Speaker and representing every one of you, has found that there is something wrong, and five members of that Committee have signed this preliminary report. One of the members has not signed it because he, unfortunately has been detained at home through matters over which he had no control. That gentleman would have been a valuable member, and he was a valuable member when he was here, but business relations at home made it impossible for him to attend.

This preliminary report that Mr. Turner tells you about was not adopted. I say to you that that report, as it was mimeographed, I would not have signed it because I did not intend to spend all those nights and sit through a series of hearings and sign a report that had no more force to it than it did.

This report is not as strong as it should be. The recommendations were buried in an avalanche of phrases. The gist of this Committee's report could be cut down to a half page, and any newspaperman, regardless of his experience can boil it down to twenty-five lines and tell you what has happened.

This report is the report of five members of this Committee of seven. We believe to be proper and I say to you—and I think the Chairman may verify it—that the report last Monday afternoon was not adopted. The paragraphs were taken up and discussed, there could be no adoption when there was no signature and there never would have been a signature, as far as I was concerned, if such a report had been presented because it resembled a very sad case of milk and water. We do not pretend to be judges. We have cast aside Wigmore on Evidence. We have done as nearly as possible as a group of seven men would do in endeavoring honestly and conscientiously to find out if there was any merit to the complaints of the boroughs, the complaints of the citizens, the complaints of the utilities themselves, if you please, in the state of Pennsylvania. We are not prejudiced, and we are not attempting to prejudice your viewpoint. As an independent member of this House, I am not tied to any group or to any individual, and my vote on every issue was independent, because I come from a district, thank God, where people are elected and not appointed, where votes are counted and not weighed and I expect to cast my vote in the future in the same spirit. I have sat on this Committee and I want to say to you that this report represents the best thought that this Comcould give it. I ask you to read it if you care to read the testimony consisting of some four thousand pages.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman, under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

Mr. D. GLENN MOORE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House. I join with the gentleman from Lawrence County in my esteem for the gentleman from Delaware County who has just recently spoken. Mr. Turner's service in the House, if I recall correctly, began at the same time that mine began. We have had very delightful fellowships together. He was appointed, along with these other six members of the House, as a member of this Investigating Committee. I am sure he did not seek the appointment; I know I did not seek it. Like Mr. Richards, to me it has been a burden and a travail of soul; it kept me here when I ought to have been at home; it kept me paying a salary to a man to do my work while I have been down here. There has been no sign of getting any expenses out of it.

I have to say our associations together on the committee have been delightful. We have had disagreements naturally, but we have never had any rancor or ill feeling, and there is no rancor or any ill feeling tonight. However, I can not disabuse my mind of the idea that the gentleman from Delaware is laboring under a mistaken idea with reference to the report which he claims was adopted on last Monday night. We had a tentative draft of this report presented to us. It was not satisfactory to any of us. I think practically every member of the Committee had a hand in redrafting parts of that report. I know that I personally wrote several paragraphs myself. It came back again with a rehashed report on Monday of last week, and we made an effort to get together on a final draft.

Mr. Richards was not present. The other members were there, and as has already been stated, we spent three and possibly three and one-half hours on it. Practically all of the paragraphs, as they were discussed and considered, were voted on, but my understanding of parliamentary procedure is that a report is not adopted even though it may be adopted section by section until it is finally adopted as a whole. Personally, to my mind, it was such a "hodge podge" affair at that time I did not put it to a vote, but we adjourned without taking the vote on the report as a whole.

Mr. Memolo and Mr. Hagmaier expressed violent objections to the report after we had left the room. I was not satisfied with it myself. I said to them that we will have it retyped and go over it again. It is true that paragraph four referred to was brought to and ok'd by me, and I would be perfectly willing to substitute it for paragraph four that appears in the report at the present time, because there is only a slight difference in verbiage without any particular difference in ideas. I told Mr. Walker to have the report typed, telling him to make twelve copies but not to make a stencil, because I anticipated we would have trouble tearing it apart, and consequently in the rush of Tuesday, which is a busy day, as all of us recognize, I forgot about it entirely until Mr. Turner called my attention to it. I went over to the South Office building, and found that it had not been typed. I looked around for some of it, and found that the report had been torn apart, and I could not make head or tail of it. I don't know whose fault it was, but it was not the fault of any member of the committee; probably it may have been carelessness on the part of somebody in that office. Finally, after spending some time on it, I revamped it, and put back in it the paragraphs that were in the original report, to which some members did not object, and had it typed in that form, and that was the form in which it came to us later.

In reference to the remark about the Attorney General's interference, that was purely a facetious statement. As I walked past Mr. Turner's desk, I said, "May be the Attorney General," and shrugged my shoulders. I want here to declare that I have not talked to the Attorney General, to the Governor, nor to any one else on the make up of this report.

The report, as presented, was discussed fairly, freely and fully, and I think it is an honest and earnest endeavor on the part of a non-judicial body functioning, if I may use the illustration like the Massachusetts Public Service Commission. That is the kind of a report that is presented, and it is concurred in by the three observers appointed in accordance with the resolution passed by the House on February 17th last.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. MUSMANNO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. MUSMANNO. Mr. Speaker, I understand that this report, the original report, was signed by five members of the Committee. The copies on our desk do not show the identity of these members. May I inquire as to the names of the members who signed the report, in order that we may write in their names in this report which we have on our desks.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Allegheny refer to the report filed by the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Moore, or to the one filed by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner?

Mr. MUSMANNO. Mr. Speaker, I refer to the report a copy of which is on my desk; I have no way of knowing which one that is.

The SPEAKER. The report filed by the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Moore, a copy of which, as the Chair understands, is now on the desks of the members, is signed: D. Glenn Moore, chairman; Martin Memolo; Bart Richards, secretary; Chester H. Rhodes; and Louis W. Hagmaier.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Fayette County, Mr. Bowers, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. BOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as a member of the Investigating Committee, I sat in the Executive meeting of Monday, April 20th, and we discussed the various phases of the preliminary report at that meeting. Some were omitted and some were added and it was my understanding, when we adjourned that this would be the report that the Committee would make to the House. I may have been mistaken, but that was my understanding, and that is my reason for signing this same report that the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, has submitted to this House tonight.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mrs. KIRKBRIDE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Kirkbride, will state her question of personal privilege.

Mrs. KIRKBRIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the finest experience that has ever been my pleasure has been the making of friends among the splendid workers for the good of Pennsylvania here in this House. Doubly so am I proud of any woman who has succeeded in gaining the honor and respect of the gentlemen of this Assembly, and we are very lucky in having with us tonight a woman who has made good, who has served several terms in this House. I would like to present the Honorable Alice M. Bentley of Crawford County.

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints the lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Kirkbride and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Emhardt, to escort the lady to the Chair.

ADDRESS OF THE HONORABLE ALICE M. BENTLEY

Miss ALICE M. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the Legislature, it is certainly a great pleasure to me to come in here again, after these years of retirement. Eight years ago this friend of mine, who was then Speaker invited me up here and frightened me almost to death, but I have grown up since. The six years that followed have helped me not to be so frightened as I was at that time.

I wish to extend to you greetings tonight. I am glad to see so many of my friends here. That is what makes it count, when you come year after year. It does not count when you only come a little while, it does not help so much.

I do not want to take any of your time tonight knowing as I do, the very serious problems that you have. I can only say to you that I hope that you will be guided in your deliberations and be wise in your decisions. Many hard problems are now before you. May you succeed in solving these problems is my wish.

Thank You.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the lady from Crawford, Miss Bentley, will be spread upon the Journal.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 495

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 24, 1931.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval House Bill No. 495, entitled "An act to provide for the jury to view premises in trials to recover damages for land taken under right of eminent domain and for the payment of costs thereof."

This bill provides that where an apeal is taken to the Court from the ward of viewers in condemnation proceedings, the Court shall, on motion of plaintiff or defendant, send the jury to see the premises before the testimony is heard. It authorizes the expense of transporting the jury to be taxed as costs in the case.

The Courts now have authority to send juries to view properties involved in eminent domain proceedings, and they are disposed to exercise that authority liberally. Approval of the present bill would make a view by the jury compulsory upon demand of any litigant. This procedure tends to delay, adds to the costs, and requires juries to be absent from court for extended periods of time. While there are compensating advantages in some cases, there are others in which a view has no advantages whatever. Therefore, the practice should not be made compulsory, but should remain as at present, within the sound discretion of the Court.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 336

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 24, 1931.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 336, Printer's No. 238, entitled "An act to amend the act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws four hundred sixty-three) entitled 'An act to regulate the pay of witnesses in this Commonwealth' providing for the mileage of witnesses."

This bill proposes to amend the existing law regulating the compensation of witnesses for attending court by providing specifically that they shall receive mileage" at the prevailing railroad rates."

While I would not object to a provision increasing above three (3c) cents per mile the rate of mileage payable to witnesses I am very strongly of the opinion that when the present rate is increased the exact rate to be paid should be specified in the law. Assuming that the expression "at the prevailing railroad rates" would not result in confusion, railroad rates may change and it would be necessary for persons filing witness bills to prove as a fact what the prevailing rates were on the dates of the appearances of witnesses in court. This would not be necessary if the law definitely fixed the mileage rate to be paid.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of further study and amendment.

Mr. GEORGE L. REED. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the motion is to recommit House Bill No. 1630 to the Committee on Judiciary Special, which is where it originated. This bill must be considered in relation to the two bills which follow it on the calendar. Much as I should like to be for these bills, in order to express my feeling toward certain abuses which may have crept into the operation of our public service companies, and into the administration of our public service laws, nevertheless, I cannot conscientiously approve many features contained in this legislation. Now, I am not concerned so much about the present Public Service Commission. I am concerned with what is to replace it. I am also concerned with the sweeping changes proposed in the public service laws of today, many of which appear to be in their present form unsound. In making this motion I desire also to express the hope that out of the welter of interest and fume of politics which has surrounded this question at this session there may yet be something worked out constructively by conference, by concession if necessary, something to the gratification of the judicious observers and the disinterested people and the protection of honest industry and last of all to the ultimate benefit of all classes in the Commonwealth, not forgetting the wage-earners who need our help most in these days of shaken confidence and economic adversity. With these convictions in mind, I have offered this motion.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have listened with a great deal of interest to the gentleman from Forest, Mr. Wheeler. When the remarks of the gentleman are assimilated, it simply amounts to the fact that he has some objection to the bill as it now is, No. 1630. He will be given every opportunity immediately after these bills come up for final passage to give this House and those concerned in the three bills his ideas in connection with them. I don't see at this late day where there is any necessity for House Bills No. 1630, No. 1631 and No. 1632, to go back to the Judiciary Special Committee. The Fair Rate Board, the original Bill No. 1275, was introduced in the House on March 23, 1931, and was only introduced after the House had gone to a great distance in its investigation and after this House was given an opportunity to read and to learn what the Senate Investigation Committee had produced. This bill as introduced was abandoned because there was some question about the title, and that was the only reason it was abandoned. It came up here on first reading and was then recommitted and the three bills which now appear before this House are nothing more or less than House Bill No. 1275, except that the bill is severed into three parts, the first of which refers to the Public Service Commission, abolishes it; the second creates the Fair Rate Board and the third provides for a series of regulations affecting the Public Service Law. Surely after what we have heard during the campaign and what we have heard proposed by the Senate Investigating Committee and what we have heard from the House Investigating Committee I think the minds of the members of the House, of each and every member in this House, are now made up. You know now that you are going to do and sending these bills back in committee means nothing more nor less than delay, useless delay, delay that is unexcusable, delay that has as its only purpose to cause the House which is smarting under the conditions that are now existing, the fact that we are here today and as it has been said and resaid and reiterated, that we have accomplished prctically nothing. This is our opportunity to clear the deck on matters pertaining to the Public Service Commission and the Public Service Law. There is absolutely no need for any further delay. If these bills come up here tomorrow, which I feel they are going to do, because I believe you are going to vote this motion down, then let every man and every woman stand on their own two feet and vote aye or no and in that way let the public see where they stand. I certainly hope the members of this House will vote the motion down.

Mr. GEORGE L. REED. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in seconding the motion made by the gentleman from Forest, I did so because I believe this bill should be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special. I cannot agree with the argument of the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudenmeier, that the three bills now on the second reading calendar embrace all of the proposals. This particular bill, No. 1630, repeals virtually all of the provisions of the present Public Service Law, for there is a provision there referring to the constitution of that commission. One of these bills does provide for a Fair Rate Board and provides that it shall be constituted of members appointed by the Governor, with the consent of the Senate, it is evident from the consideration of that bill, that the provision referring to the constitution of the Fair Rate Board will be contained generally in the administrative code. In order that this House may have this entire proposition before it, I contend that these bills should be postponed until this House knows the provisions of the administrative code. It seems to me in voting on this bill at this time, we are putting the cart before the horse. We do not know from these bills the exact provisions relating to the Fair Rate Board, how it shall be constituted and how it shall function, and therefore I think that this motion should be adopted, to the end that the legislation immediately before the House may have its full consideration.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Staudenmeir and Mr. Cauffiel.

Mr. HEFFERON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye".

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire whether Mr. Hefferon was in the room when his name was called, because he did not answer when his name was called.

The SPEAKER. Was the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Hefferon, within the Hall of the House when his name was called.

Mr. HEFFERON. No, I was not, I was outside.

The SPEAKER. The rule requires that a member to have his vote recorded must be within the bar of the House, and the bar of the House is considered as the Hall of the House. Therefore, if the gentleman was in the Hall of the House, he is entitled to have his vote recorded; if he was not within the Hall of the House, he is not so entitled. Does the gentleman say he was within the Hall of the House.

Mr. HEFFERON. I was in the Hall of the House, but not inside of the railing.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is then entitled to have his vote recorded.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified as follows:

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1631, entitled:

An Act creating an executive agency of the State government to be known as the Fair Rate Board to administer The Public Service Company Law its amendments and supplements as successor to The Public Service Commission defining in part its powers and duties transferring to the Fair Rate Board records employes property and equipment of and jurisdiction over proceedings pending before The Public Service Commission and providing that all contracts orders rules and regulations of The Public Service Commission shall remain effective until modified by the Fair Rate Board

The first section was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That an executive agency of the State government is hereby crated to be known as the Fair Rate Board

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

MOTION TO POSTPONE BILL

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar until tomorrow.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, before I made this motion I asked the sponsor of the bill to permit me to present an amendment to this bill on second reading. I had the amendments prepared and they were on my desk but they are gone and I will have to type them over again.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, of all of the ingenious reasons I have heard argued during my five sessions here, I have heard of none that could equal the motion made here by my friend from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers. On account of our warm friendship, that has existed during the five sessions I have been here, I would gladly agree with him under ordinary circumstances, but House Bill No. 1630 having passed second reading, will be up for a vote tomorrow. I think that this motion of Mr. Sowers should be voted down inasmuch as House Bill No. 1631 is a companion bill to No. 1630. If he had amendments these amendments of course can either be presented to the committee in the Senate if this bill passes the House and action can be taken upon these amendments before that committee. I don't want to be discourteous to any member, but I feel that House Bill No. 1631 should pass second reading and have the same standing on the calendar tomorrow as House Bill No. 1630, and hence I ask the members of the House to vote the motion down.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my amendments were prepared by Mr. Fertig. The amendments relate to the method of appointing the board. I think the methods are very important and ought to be considered by the House, and I would ask as a favor to me and to other members of this House to give me an opportunity to have them typed again so they may be voted upon.

Mr. BEYER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I hold in my hand an appeal presented to me a week ago before this bill was reported out of committee by a number of gentlemen, all of them actively affiliated with the United Businessmen's Association of Philadelphia. They have taken considerable interest in all that concerned the reorganization of the Public Service Commission. I said to the chairman, and I think he will bear me out, that I had no purpose in mind when the bill came out of committee to delay it, but I made a request after it came to second reading and these gentlemen still cared to be heard, that their request should be granted. I now make an appeal to the House and I say candidly that these men whose appeal I have here have asked absolutely in good faith to be heard, and if the bill goes back once more they will have an opportunity to be heard and when you come to read the appeal I have here you will find that they are in perfect line with all that we are aiming at. What I am resenting is the knowledge that something is being forced upon us as members of the lower body. I may as a matter of principle upon a proper recommitment of these bills cast my vote in support of them, but I do say that the citizens of Pennsylvania have some right to be heard and not all bills must emanate from the executive chamber and they are not by no means immune, they have a right to be corrected and a right to be amended and it may be that even His Excellency the Governor will approve of the amendments or the suggestions that are incorporated in this appeal. For that reason I will support the motion to report this bill back to committee.

The SPEAKER. There is no motion before the House to recommit.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the motion before the House is to place this bill on the postponed calendar so as to be on the second reading calendar tomorrow. The remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Beyer, are not germane to it at all. I wish again to impress upon the members of this House that there has been no undue haste in this matter. If there are any amendments to these bills that in the course of the next few weeks before we go home deserve any consideration, I am sure these amendments can be given full consideration in the Senate committee, and of course when this bill comes back to the House to concur in the amendments we will have an opportunity to consider the amendments and give them consideration in this House. I again reiterate I don't see any need for further delay in having this bill take its place with House Bill No. 1630 on the calendar tomorrow, hence I ask that the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia be voted down.

Mr. BEYER. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudenmeier?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Gladly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BEYER. Have you any objections to one day's delay to examine this bill with the thought in mind of incorporating the amendments on second reading?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, under ordinary circumstances I would have absolutely no objections but as I stated heretofore House Bill No. 1630 which provides for abolishing the Public Service Commission is followed in the natural course of events by House Bill No. 1631, which provides for a Fair Rate Board to take the place of the Public Service Commission. I am sure if these bills pass the House no matter what the nature of the appeal the gentleman from Philadelphia has in his hand, it would be given due and full consideration in the Senate.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth sections and title were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 The Fair Rate Board shall consist of seven members to be appointed by the Governor by and with the consent of two thirds of all the members of the Senate Its members shall be appointed for such terms shall have such qualifications and shall receive such salaries as may be provided by The Administrative Code

Section 3 The Fair Rate Board shall be the successor to The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and shall administer the Public Service Company Law its amendments and supplements

Section 4 All books papers maps charts plans records and all other equipment in the possession of The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania upon the effective date of this act or of any commissioner of said Commission or any officer or employe of said Commission shall be delivered to the Fair Rate Board

Section 5 All employes of The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on the effective date of this act shall become employes of the Fair Rate Board and shall continue to perform their usual duties upon the same terms and conditions as theretofore until removed or appointed to other positions by the Board Persons who upon the effective date of this act are employes of The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall retain all retirement rights that shall have accrued or would thereafter accrue to them and their services shall be deemed to have been continuous as if the Public Service Commission had not been abolished

Section 6 All petitions hearings and other proceedings pending before The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and all investigations begun by said Commission or any member or officer thereof and not completed upon the effective date of this act shall continue and remain in full force and effect as if The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania had not been abolished and may be completed before or by the Fair Rate Board

Section 7 All orders rules and regulations made by The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania prior to the effective date of this act shall remain in full force and effect until revoked or modified by the Fair Rate Board

Section 8 All existing contracts and obligations of The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall remain in full force and effect and shall be performed by the Fair Rate Board

An Act creating an executive agency of the State government to be known as the Fair Rate Board to administer The Public Service Company Law, its amendments, and supplements, as successor to The Public Service Commission; defining in part its powers and duties, transferring to the Fair Rate Board records, employes, property and equipment of, and jurisdiction over proceedings, pending before The Public Service Commission; and providing that all contracts, orders, rules and regulations of The Public Service Commission shall remain effective until modified by the Fair Rate Board.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. PETERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. FISH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it certainly must be tiresome to you and somewhat irksome to be listening to what I am saying here tonight, but as you know these motions make it necessary to take the floor and hence I shall ask you to again bear with me for a few moments, because it evident it is going to be necessary to run the entire gauntlet to get these bills on the third reading calendar tomorrow. I don't know what motive prompted the gentleman from Montgomery to make a motion to recommit this bill to the Committee on Judiciary Special. There were no remarks made by him and hence in the absence of arguments as to the reason for the recommitment of the bill I am at a loss as to how to answer him so all I have to say to you is that the arguments that I made in connection with House Bill No. 1630 in opposition to the recommitment of the bill to the Committee on Judiciary Special applies with equal force to this motion made for the recommitment of House Bill No. 1631 to the Committee on Judiciary Special. In other words, that there is absolutely no necessity for these delays and for these bills to go back to the Committee on Judiciary Special and hence, in order to maintain the regular order of the bills on the calendar, I ask that this motion to recommit House Bill No. 1631 be voted down.

Mr. PETERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, amendments I have here in my hands is the reason I have for asking for this bill to be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special. I ask the members of the House to recommit this bill for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if you will take the trouble to look at paragraph 2 of section 2 of the bill, you will find that the Governor in this bill proposes a Fair Rate Board to consist of seven—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia is discussing the merits of the bill.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I am going to question only that part of the bill which I think should be amended in committee.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia is informed that the merits of the bill are not open to discussion on a motion to recommit.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the demerits of this bill I cannot explain to you, the good merits of the bill I cannot find. The motion made is to recommit this bill for amendment. Is there only wisdom in the executive office? Is there only wisdom in this committee and in this House committee? Is there not a fairness in the executive that would permit his bill to be considered seriously? Can the executive be that invisible government that he has been complaining of? Is there a strong hand that keeps this measure that is so dear to the people from going back to a committee for a proper amendment and for full and careful consideration? I ask you in fairness to your constituents; I ask you in fairness to the people you represent, that this bill be given our best study and thought and what can be accomplished by sending it back to the committee because it is apparently unfair to refuse amendments which are made for the betterment of the people and for the correction of this defective bill.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I shall vote aye on this motion because I consider it one of the most important pieces of legislation that has come before this body, or will hereafter come before this body. It seems as if speed must be the only reason for the movement forward of these bills. It doesn't seem quite fair that we as members of this House cannot speak our minds and offer amendments that we believe are beneficial to the people of this Commonwealth. When the sponsor of these bills suggests that they may be amended in the Senate it seems to me the members of this House have a right to their own minds and to their own wishes and I trust that the members of this House will vote aye on this motion.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the only thing advanced for your consideration here were some additional amendments. As I have stated again and again, these amendments can be presented to the Senate Committee if these bills pass tomorrow. I believe we should get our work over here in this House, to be done with it and get it over with just as soon as possible so that the people of this Commonwealth will know at an early date what is in store for them during the next two years and so the members can go home and take up their various occupations. I believe that these amendments will be given, fair, full and complete consideration by the Senate committee and hence I respectively request the members of this House to vote the motion down.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in reply to my friend from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudenmeier, I want to state that we are not members of the Senate and we cannot present our amendments to the Senate except through a Senator. I respectfully submit to the House that we ought to have an opportunity to vote on these amendments. We ought to have an opportunity to consider them and I feel the amendments are better than the bill for the people.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is unfortunate that under the rule we cannot discuss this measure at this time. I concur in what the gentleman my colleague, from Delaware, said on the importance of this measure. It has a far reaching effect. It will have a bearing upon the entire conduct of the Public Service Commission because in this bill is embodied the power to appoint and remove the members of the Commission. The gentleman from Schuylkill has given us an argument that we can pass this bill over to the Senate and there offer our amendments. It seems to me that that is a cowardly stand for this House to take. We have stood here all during this session in an endeavor to get the members of this House to be a House of Representatives and not a rubber stamp. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Sarig, has time and time again pointed out and again tonight has told us we might as well put a lot of robots here and have the buttons pressed and vote aye on these bills if we are to go on as at present.

If these measures had been carefully considered in Committee; if they had been subject to careful scrutiny if they had had hearings as was followed out with ordinary bills, I would have nothing to say. We remember there was a fair rate bill introduced in this House and was referred to Committee and the same night it was reported out of committee and I do not believe it was even read by the committee on that occasion. Then it was found that that bill was not in proper form that it was unconstitutional in its makeup and it was split into three bills in order that it might meet the requirements of the Constitution and now they come here with three bills that have been drafted by the committee and I say that I doubt if any members of this House until the last two or three days have had an opportunity to read and consider these measures.

These are not ordinary bills that affect a small part of the Commonwealth, that affect only a few people. These bills go to the very root of things in so far as the great industries of the Commonwealth are concerned, the industries from whom we expect to collect a large part of the taxes that go to pay the bills of all of these communities and of the state government. Certainly it seems to me that the argument is most spicious on the part of the gentleman from Schuylkill when he wants us to pass this on to the Senate, and let the House shirk its duty. Let us do our duty here. Let us be men and women; let us stand on our own feet and on our own bottom. Let us see if the House of Representatives is the representative of the people of this state or is a rubber stamp. We can well pause for twenty-four hours, for the short time that is asked in order that amendments may be presented. It is not my privilege to speak upon the bill. It is not the occasion to say anything in behalf of this amendment but I think a good many have caught the drift of it from what has been said and will realize that there is a big question here.

The Governor in his campaign addresses said that if the organization in Philadelphia was enabled to elect a candidate that they would be able to raid the treasury of the state of Pennsylvania. We ought not to have laws which will allow anybody to raid the treasury. Mr. Pinchot will be Governor for only four years. I have been here and have seen three different administrations exist in this Commonwealth. Tomorrow we may have a different administration; we may have men that will not regard their obligations, as Mr. Pinchot perhaps will, with the highest honor and fairness in dealing with the Public Service Commission. Tomorrow we may have others that will not so deal with the matter and under the powers given under this bill may coerce and drag into line every public utility in Pennsylvania. I believe that no such power should be given to any man or to any Governor of the Commonwealth. I think the gentleman from Schuylkill would agree with me if left to his own decision that this bill should be carried over until tomorrow.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. BEYER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. STAUDENMEIR. Mr. Speaker, I merely wish to draw the attention——

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin, will state his point of order.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the motion to adjourn is not debatable.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point of order is well taken.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, I merely wish to state—

Mr. WITKIN. There is a motion before the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair again announces that a motion to adjourn is not debatable.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Staudenmeier and Mr. Hermansen.

Mr. BECHTEL. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

Mr. WITKIN. I asked the Speaker for the day of the month.

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman refers to the calendar day, or rather if he refers to the Legislative day then the Chair would say that this is April 27th.

Mr. WITKIN. The time of the day.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of opinion that the Legislative day commences on Monday night at nine o'clock and extends until the House is adjourned.

Mr. WITKIN. May I ask the Speaker, to announce if the calendar day is not Tuesday, April 28th, 1931, and the time as stated by the Speaker at nineteen minutes past twelve o'clock.

The SPEAKER. The Chair does not feel it necessary to announce the day of the week or the day of the month.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1632, as follows:

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer an amendment to House Bill No. 1632.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, I object to this bill being amended at this time.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not in order. The gentleman cannot object when the bill is on second reading, and the Chair is of the opinion that the amendments are in order and should be laid before the House.

The amendments of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, appear to be to section 4, if there are amendments prior to section 4, it will save time and save the reconsideration of votes perhaps if they are presented at this time before those sections are agreed to. The Chair will begin with section one and they will be placed before the House in their order for the attention of the House.

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I think we have a right to object to these amendments now, have we not?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman certainly has the right to object to the amendments when they are read in their order.

The first, second and third sections were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That Article one of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand three hundred seventy-four) entitled "An act approved the twenty-sixth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirteen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand three hundred seventy-four) entitled "An act defining public service companies and providing for their regulation by prescribing and defining their duties and liabilities prescribing defining and limiting their powers and regulating their incorporation and to a limited extent regulating municipal corporations engaged or about to engage in the business of public service companies creating and establishing a Public Service Commission for the regulation aforesaid prescribing and defining the powers and duties of such Commission and its officers including the exclusive power to regulate the construction alteration relacation or abolition of the crossing of railroad corporations street railway corporations or other public service companies and of public highways by the tracks or other facilities of said companies providing for the ascertainment by the Commission of the expense and damages resulting from such construction alteration relocation or abolition and for the payment of such expense and damages severally or proportionately by the public service companies interested the State or municipal corporation concerned all giving persons whose property is thereby taken injured or destroyed authority to sue the Commonwealth for damages in such cases providing for the terms salaries and compensation of the members of the commission its officers counsel and employes prescribing and regulating the practice and procedure before such commission and upon appeal and judicial review of its orders and determinations by the courts of common pleas and giving the court of common pleas of Dauphin County exclusive jurisdiction of such appeals in certain cases and of all injunctions mandamus or other appropriate proceedings to enforce the provisions of this act and the orders of the commission and to restrain such orders subject to an appeal to the Supreme Court prescribing penalties fines and imprisonment for the violation of the provisions of this act and for the violation of the orders of said commission making it the duty of the Public Service Commission to enforce the provisions of the act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled 'An act to promote the safety of travelers and employes on railroads by compelling common carriers by railroad to properly man their trains' by amending section nine thereof repealing the act approved the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and seven which provided for the appointment of the Pennsylvania State Railroad Commission and sections one and two of the act approved the fourth day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three entitled 'An act to enforce the provisions of the seventeenth article of the Constitution relative to railroads and canals' and an act entitled 'To provide the maximum car service charges including car storage charges that railroad companies and corporations or associations may charge and collect on each car loading and not unloaded within the free time for unloading cars and fixing the free time that shall be allowed for unloading cars' approved twenty-fourth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven and the proviso of clause three and the provisos of clause seven of section thirty-four of the act entitled 'An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations' approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four and all other legislation inconsistent with or supplied by this act" as amended be and the same is hereby amended so that the first paragrph of said Article One and the two definitions at the end thereof shall read respectively as follows
